War Planes
Are Superior

(Editor's note: The Army Air Forces have geared operations to a tremendously expanded war program, involving a two-year production of possibly 150,000 planes and air personnel of 2,000,000 to 2,500,000 men. To demonstrate how the AAF is keeping pace with this program, together with all developments in fighting craft production calculated to increase U. S. punching power, a group of observers recently was taken behind the scenes at Wright Field, Dayton, Ohio, the chief experimental and test station. This is the first of two stories by Alan J. Gould, executive assistant to the general manager of The Associated Press.)

By ALAN J. GOULD
Wright Field, Dayton, O., Nov. 2 (AP)—Three hours from Broadway's dimout, as the Army cargo ship flies, you arrive in the midst of projects and preparations to turn all hell loose in the current and coming war of the air.

It seems peaceful enough as you look out over a vacant golf course from the rambling brick home of the commandant, Brig. Gen. Arthur Vanaman, who was American air attaché in Berlin four years and knows all about Nazi air strength. It's a concentrated closeup of destructive power as you observe what the Army Air Forces are doing in their great testing and experimental laboratory, under the instructive guidance of Maj. Gen. Oliver Echols, head of the material command.

Night Demonstration
Take, just for example, a night demonstration of fire power staged for our benefit. Lined up in a row facing the firing pits are a half dozen of the foremost fighter and bombing planes now in mass production in the United States.

Col. James Gillespie signals and the six (or more) wing-mounted .50 calibre guns of the Republic P-47 (Thunderbolt) pour tracer slugs into the target with an ear-pounding burst. The seven-gun battery of the P-39 (Bell Alacobra), including one 37 millimeter cannon, blasts away. A cannon burst from the North American P-51 (Mustang) and a demonstration of turret firing by a B-17 (Boeing Flying Fortress) tops off a thunderous show.

U. S. Carries Wallop
This war in the air is a slugging match and there's no doubt Americans have put the emphasis on carrying the biggest wallop of all and with increasing potency, into the far-flung battle fronts.

The fighter plane that Army fliers unstintingly credit with saving the British empire in its darkest hour—the famous Spitfire V—is an aerial boxer by comparison with the heavy-weight, heavily-gunned pursuits of the U. S. Army. It is instructive and interesting to note that to keep pace with the demands for greater punch, the British have increased the firepower of the later models of the Spitfire, by the addition of cannon in support of its battery of .30 calibre machine guns.

More Power, More Range
The .50 calibre weapons are as characteristic of the American program for air supremacy as the long range, high altitude heavy bombers which in their newest conception—now on the production line—will carry bigger bombs a greater distance than anything else that flies.

These are among factors that Army leaders consider likely to have decisive influence on the ultimate course and outcome of the war. The heavier American machine gun bullet, for instance, will probably pierce the heatiest armor now known to be part of any enemy plane's equipment. Our latest planes carry much more armor-piercing ammunition than the latest German and Japanese fighter planes.

The Japanese Zero fighter has justly earned a reputation for its maneuverability, climbing rate, and speed—especially on the getaway—but it is no match for any standard American pursuit in fire power or durability in battle. In the words of an American flying general the Zero "can't take it." He explains:

Outfought Jap Zeros
"The public has been misled by the discussion of fighters versus fighters. It should be borne in mind that the primary function of the fighter is to knock down the bomber. The Zero is a poor anti-bomber weapon. It sacrifices armor and other protective devices for speed and agility. It is strictly a hit-and-run machine and, plane for plane, no match for the American Curtiss P-40.

"The records of actual warfare have shown that American fighters and bombers in the Pacific have knocked the Zeros down 3 to 1. In many instances, the score has been higher in our favor and it must be remembered that we are just beginning, in some areas, to put our later, heavier-gunned planes into action."

HUNTER SHOT IN EYE; TWO BITTEN BY DOG

One hunter was shot in the eye Saturday and two others were bitten by their wounded rabbit dog this morning as the small game season opened with the game supply reported fairly good and the number of hunters in the field considerably below normal.

While hunting with several companions near his home south of Gettysburg late Saturday afternoon, Leo Gebhart, aged about 32, was struck in the left eye by a No. 6 shot which had ricocheted from a charge fired from the gun of one of his companions. Up to noon today no report of the accident to Game Protector Leo Bushman and the name of the second hunter was not available.

In Eye Hospital
Gebhart came to Gettysburg after the accident and after being examined by Dr. Walter S. Mountain was X-rayed at the Warner hospital and ordered to the Wills Eye hospital in Philadelphia where he was a patient today. Reports from the hospital stated he expects to submit to an operation, possibly on Tuesday.

Doctor Mountain said the sight in that eye may be preserved after he had determined the position of the lead pellet.

The freak accident that occurred south of here this morning involved two brothers from York, James Bohle, East street, and Francis Bohle, Princess street. Their hound started a rabbit and Francis fired at the cottontail but some of the shot struck their dog. The men went to the aid of the animal and it bit both men on the hands. They were treated at the hospital for lacerations and tetanus anti-toxin was administered.

Many Pheasants
Game Protector Bushman estimated that only about one-third to one-half of the usual number of hunters for opening day was in the field on Saturday but said there seemed to be a large number out today.

He said reports show that rabbits are scarce in some sections of the county but that squirrels and pheasants are in good supply.

Mr. Bushman reminded hunters that the daily hunting hours extend from 8 a. m. to 6 p. m. and promised that those hours will be strictly enforced in Adams county.

He also pointed out that all hunting accidents must be reported to the Pennsylvania Game commission. The forms on which the reports are to be made may be secured from Mr. Bushman.

1797 Are Licensed

The small game season closes on Saturday, November 28.

Up to noon today 1,797 hunters had been licensed from the office of County Treasurer John W. Brehm at the court house but that figure compared well with the same date last year. Mr. Brehm said that when the season opened Saturday morning the number of licenses issued here was only 122 below the figure for the same time last year.

Light Vote Is Expected Tuesday

County politicians estimated today that not more than 35 to 45 per cent of the 18,111 registered voters in Adams county will cast their ballots in the general election on Tuesday. Defense work and tire and gas rationing are expected to reduce the number of voters.

Along with other voters in Pennsylvania, Adams county electors will cast their ballots for their choice for governor, lieutenant governor, judges of the state supreme and superior courts, secretary of internal affairs and congressman at large. They also will name their choices for congressman from the twenty-second district and for representative in the General Assembly at Harrisburg.

Weather Forecast
Warmer tomorrow

Bible School To Open On Tuesday

The week day Bible school at St. James Lutheran church will begin its sessions Tuesday afternoon at 4 o'clock. As in former years the school will be divided into eight divisions in public school. All courses will be Bible-centered.

The teaching staff is as follows: First grade, Mrs. Norman W. Storrick; second grade, Miss Margaret C. Howard; third grade, Mrs. Lloyd Hartman; fourth grade, Mrs. R. R. Gresh; fifth grade, Mrs. Henry T. Bream; sixth grade, Rev. Ralph W. Baker; seventh grade, George Birk; eighth grade or catechetical class, the pastor, Rev. R. R. Gresh. The pastor will also serve as dean of the school.

"CHIC" MYERS IS CONSTABLE

Charles J. "Chic" Myers, Chambersburg street, was appointed constable in the second ward by Judge W. C. Sheely in court here Saturday morning in a session in judicial chambers during which two decrees in divorce were handed down.

The Myers appointment was made on petition of 10 residents of the second ward who asked that he be named to serve out the unexpired term of the late Park Noel, who was elected in 1938 for a four-year term.

The court handed down an opinion in which a decree in divorce was allowed Mrs. Wilda Ann Tawney, of Gettysburg, from William E. Tawney on grounds of indignities to the person. The opinion ruled, however, that the decree cannot be entered on the record until Mrs. Tawney files an affidavit setting forth facts showing that the respondent is not in the military service of the United States under provisions of the Soldiers' and Sailors' Relief Act. The costs also must be paid before the decree is entered.

The second decree was allowed in the action by Mrs. Christine M. Plank, Gettysburg, against Raymond S. Plank, on grounds of desertion. In response to a petition from residents of the third ward, Judge Sheely named Mrs. Elizabeth Redding, West High street, as the new judge of elections in that ward to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Mrs. Helen Cunningham.

FOUR TEACHERS ARE ELECTED

Election of four new teachers in rural school districts in Adams county over the week-end were announced today by the office of the county superintendent of schools.

Danmer A. Peters, Gardners R. D., has been named as the new teacher at Locust Grove school in Menallen township to take the place of Arthur L. Slaybaugh who has accepted an elementary school principalship in Delaware City, Delaware. Mr. Peters taught in Menallen township last year but his was one of the two one-room schools closed in that township since last year.

Mrs. William Cowan, Huntingtownship, takes the place of Clyde Kennedy at Whitcomb's View school in Huntingtownship. Kennedy has been drafted into the Army.

Mrs. Mabel Diviner, Hanover, fills the vacancy caused by the resignation of Mrs. Evelyn W. Bucher, Littlestown, at Felt's school in Union township.

Mrs. Grace Noel, Littlestown, has resigned as teacher at Slate Ridge school in Germany township, to accept a teaching position in Pennsylvania, York county. A Mrs. Hawk of Hanover has been elected to the Slate Ridge school.

KLUNK WILL FILE

The will of John G. Klunk, late of McSherrystown, has been placed on record at the court house, disposing of an estate worth $2,800 in real estate and personal property. A son, Charles D. Klunk, York, is the executor.

LAUDS MARTIN AS STRONG MAN FOR GOVERNOR

"Edward Martin has what it takes to be a war governor. After the war we'll need a strong man, a great administrator with a thorough knowledge of the state. In war or peace General Martin will be a great governor for you."

With those words Pennsylvania's attorney general, Claude T. Reno, ended his speech Saturday evening in the court house at the last big Republican rally of the current campaign. Other speakers during the evening were Chester H. Gross, York county, party nominee for Congress; Francis Worley, Latimore township, GOP nominee for representative in the General Assembly; and Leighton C. Taylor, Esq., of Bendersville and Washington, D. C.

County Chairman John H. Basehore presided at the meeting which filled the main court room.

Lauds Gov. James
Attorney General Reno was the final speaker on the program. He pointed to the winning of the war as the major concern of all Americans and predicted eventual victory for the Allied nations. He praised the "consistent and persistent cooperation with the all-out war effort given authorities at Washington by Governor James" and charged the Democratic majority in the lower house at Harrisburg with deliberately blocking passage of war-connected legislation because its enactment had been asked by Governor James. That action was taken even though the laws originally had been requested by Washington, he said.

Mr. Reno urged support of the entire Republican ticket and described General Martin as "uniquely fitted by his long career as a soldier and public official" to serve the people of Pennsylvania well during these war days and during the critical reconstruction period that will follow.

Former Congressman Gross told the audience that he has never been more confident of a Republican success at the polls than in this campaign. He urged party workers to "stay on your toes for you're dealing with a desperate crowd. We don't simply want to beat them we want a smashing victory."

Opposes New Deal
He declared "I've always been an opponent of the New Deal and I pray I may always have the courage to say 'no' when the rights and liberties of the people are threatened—and that's exactly why they (the democrats) say I have to be defeated. They've lied, and gyped and double-crossed us until we can't believe anything they say."

He attacked the record of his opponent Congressman Harry L. Haines and said that he (Gross) was responsible for having servicemen's dependents' allotment checks mailed in September instead of waiting until the day before election as originally was planned. Gross said that on a visit to Washington last July as a private citizen he had conferred on the floor of Congress and urged a former colleague there to launch an attack on the November-check (Please Turn to Page 7)

Roosevelt Asks Further War Powers Of Congress

Washington, Nov. 2 (AP)—President Roosevelt asked Congress today to give him sweeping wartime power to suspend any law, particularly tariffs, found interfering with the "free movement of persons, property and information" into and out of the United States.

Asserting that speed and volume of war output have become more than ever before in our history the "primary conditions of victory," Mr. Roosevelt said in a special message:

"To achieve an all out war production effort, we must implement and supplement the steps already taken by the Congress and the President to eliminate those peace time restrictions which limit our ability to make the fullest and best use of the world's resources."

The President asked that he be empowered for the duration of the war to "suspend the operation of all or any such laws, in such a way as to meet new and perhaps unforeseen problems as they may arise, and on such terms as will enable the chief executive and government agencies to work out in detail parallel action in other countries."

Hotel Night Clerk Resigns Position

Stanley F. Paluskiewicz, night-clerk at the Hotel Gettysburg, has resigned his position to enter the news agency business in Dundalk, a suburb of Baltimore.

Mr. Paluskiewicz recently purchased the news agency business and took possession over the weekend. His family will remain in Gettysburg until he establishes a residence for them in Dundalk.

No successor has been selected for the position. Mr. Paluskiewicz resigned from the Hotel Gettysburg.

RUSH WORK ON SURVEY OF ALL SKILLED HELP

The Gettysburg office of the United States Employment Service is nearing completion of its task of processing approximately 20,000 occupational questionnaires of draft age men in this area between the ages of 20 and 64, according to an announcement today by Paul B. Piersol, manager.

Piersol said, "This has been a tremendous job, but it is being completed on schedule."

The purpose of the occupational questionnaire survey is to obtain detailed and accurate information on the job skills of all men registered with the Selective Service system, Piersol explained. In addition, the occupational questionnaire forms made it possible to discover cases of workers possessing critical skills urgently needed in the war effort which were not being utilized in their present employment. Such persons are offered the opportunity to transfer to a job in war industry where their skill will be fully utilized. All such transfers are made by the worker on a voluntary basis.

Many Classified
Employment Service procedure involves the separation of the forms into those showing essential skills, critical skills, and those showing neither essential nor critical skills. The group of criticals is then divided into those utilizing their skill in present employment and those not utilizing it.

The latest available summary figures indicate that as of October 1, when the Gettysburg office had processed approximately 60 per cent of the Questionnaires received, a total of 1,400 persons possessing critical skills and 3,000 persons possessing essential skills had been classified. Of those in critical occupations, 350 were not presently working at the critical occupation, the survey shows.

The survey will provide the government with a detailed picture of the occupational characteristics of almost the entire male labor supply in many years.

HOLD MEMORIAL FOR SAILOR WHO DIED IN ACTION

All Saint's Day was marked at Trinity Evangelical Reformed church Sunday afternoon by a special vesper service at 4 o'clock in the form of a memorial to James Lewis Kendlehart, the first member of Trinity church to give his life in the present World War.

Mr. Kendlehart was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Kendlehart, West Middle street. He graduated from Gettysburg high school and in 1937 enlisted in the United States Navy. He quickly rose from the ranks of an ordinary seaman to that of Machinist Mate First Class and was assigned to a war ship.

He married Miss Mary Winters of Boston, Mass., while stationed at Boston Harbor several years ago. He was the father of twin daughters, born in Honolulu.

He met his death while on active duty in the battle of the Solomons August 4th. The details of his death are not known because of strict censorship excepting that he died in thirty minutes.

As to the character of Mr. Kendlehart his commanding officer writes thus: "He was held in high esteem by the officers and men of his ship and we take pride in saying that in his final actions he showed courage and heroism in full keeping with the tradition of the naval service and our country."—Rev. Howard S. Fox, pastor, said in his eulogy.

Mr. Kendlehart's body was buried at sea. At the close of the service Rev. Mr. Fox read the committal service for burial at sea using a spray of flowers to designate the body.

The service which was largely attended by relatives and friends was conducted by Rev. Fox who also read the eulogy and preached the sermon. The senior choir of the church sang the anthem "No Shadows Yonder" and a quartette from the choir sang "The Hymn of the Navy." Claude Dundore, of Gettysburg College, guest soloist, sang "One Sweetly Solemn Thought."

Mr. Kendlehart's widow Mrs. Mary Winters Kendlehart, Boston, Mass., was in attendance at the service. This was the first memorial service for a Gettysburg man in the current conflict.

Jap Fleet And Air Force Are Badly Damaged

Washington, Nov. 2 (AP)—The sinking of seven enemy ships and the damaging of three others, including a converted aircraft carrier set afire, by American submarines during recent operations in the Pacific were announced today by the Navy.

Sub Score Is 133 Ships

These operations brought the total of enemy ships reported sunk or damaged by submarines in the Pacific since the outbreak of war to 133, of which 86 were sunk, 20 probably sunk and 27 damaged.

The text of the communique, Number 178, "Far East."

"1. U. S. submarines have reported the following results of operations against the enemy in far eastern waters:

Here And There News Collected At Random

Observance, in the form of a memorial service, of the first anniversary of the treacherous attack on Pearl Harbor, was to be decided at a meeting of a Gettysburg committee in the parlors of the Hotel Gettysburg this afternoon.

The observance was first suggested in this column several days ago. Since then many Gettysburgians have voted approval of the plan to hold memorial services for those Americans and others of the Allied Nations who lost their lives in the unprovoked assault on Pearl Harbor.

It has been suggested that the services be held on Sunday evening, December 6, with a Protestant and Catholic clergyman and a Jewish Rabbi participating.

The committee to decide upon such an observance this afternoon includes: Dr. A. R. Wentz, the Rev. Fr. Mark E. Stock, the Rev. Howard S. Fox, the Rev. Seth Morrow, Mrs. Elsie Singmaster Lewars, Parker Wagnild and Paul L. Roy.

Last week Bob laid a curb and sidewalk along the George Eberhart property on Buford avenue, preparatory to the resurfacing of the street to the top of Seminary ridge.

Bob worked long, hard hours to complete the work on Friday. Sometime after 7 o'clock in the evening someone hurled the barriade and walked through the newly poured concrete. Bob heard about it and worked from 11 o'clock in the evening until 3 o'clock in the morning repairing the damage. At 7 o'clock the (Please Turn to Page 3)

United States Naval forces today appeared to have the run of the waters around embattled Guadalcanal island as a result of the devastating battle of October 26 in which the Japanese now are reported officially to have suffered damage to seven big ships.

In what the Navy described as the first detailed report of the Naval air battle east of the Stewart islands one week ago, the enemy also was reported to have lost between 100 and 150 planes.

Japanese Losses
Japanese warships listed as damaged included two aircraft carriers of the Zuihaku class, two battleships and three cruisers. This added one battleship and two heavy cruisers to the score previously reported.

Announced United States losses in the engagement were one carrier, as yet unidentified, and the destroyer Porter, with other ships reporting lesser damage.

As the battered Japanese armada retired from the scene, American warships swept into the area from which enemy vessels had bombarded defenders of Guadalcanal and let go with a two hour cannonading of Japanese positions on the island. Several buildings and boats and some artillery were destroyed by the shelling, which occurred last Friday (Solomon islands time).

Carrier Sinking
A dispatch from Olen W. Clements, Associated Press correspondent in the South Pacific war zone, quoted an American pilot returning from the attack as saying the flight deck of one of the big new enemy carriers was completely smashed and she appeared to be sinking.

The Navy said there were only two carriers of the Zuihaku class, the Syokaku (Crane) and the Zuihaku (Lucky Star), both completed last year. They are of about 17,000 tons and carry 45 planes each, indicating the presence of additional carriers if more than 100 enemy planes were destroyed in the October 26 battle.

Mr. Brehm said that when the season opened Saturday morning the number of licenses issued here was only 122 below the figure for the same time last year.

Light Vote Is Expected Tuesday

County politicians estimated today that not more than 35 to 45 percent of the 18,111 registered voters in Adams county will cast their ballots in the general election on Tuesday. Defense work and tire and gas rationing are expected to reduce the number of voters.

Along with other voters in Pennsylvania, Adams county electors will cast their ballots for their choice for governor, lieutenant governor, judges of the state supreme and superior courts, secretary of internal affairs and congressman at large. They also will name their choices for congressman from the twenty-second district and for representative in the General Assembly at Harrisburg.

"CHIC" MYERS IS CONSTABLE

Charles J. "Chic" Myers, Chambersburg street, was appointed constable in the second ward by Judge W. C. Sheely in court here Saturday morning in a session in judicial chambers during which two decrees in divorce were handed down.

The Myers appointment was made on petition of 10 residents of the second ward who asked that he be named to serve out the unexpired term of the late Park Noel, who was elected in 1939 for a four-year term.

The court handed down an opinion in which a decree in divorce was allowed Mrs. Wilda Ann Tawney, of Gettysburg, from William E. Tawney on grounds of indignities to the person. The opinion ruled, however, that the decree cannot be entered on the record until Mrs. Tawney files an affidavit setting forth facts showing that the respondent is not in the military service of the United States under provisions of the Soldiers' and Sailors' Relief Act. The costs also must be paid before the decree is entered.

The second decree was allowed in the action by Mrs. Christine M. Plank, Gettysburg, against Raymond S. Plank, on grounds of desertion.

In response to a petition from residents of the third ward, Judge Sheely named Mrs. Elizabeth Redding, West High street, as the new judge of elections in that ward to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Mrs. Helen Cunningham.

FOUR TEACHERS ARE ELECTED

Election of four new teachers in rural school districts in Adams county over the week-end were announced today by the office of the county superintendent of schools.

Danner A. Peters, Gardners R. D., has been named as the new teacher at Locust Grove school in Menallen township to take the place of Arthur L. Slaybaugh who has accepted an elementary school principalship in Delaware City, Delaware. Mr. Peters taught in Menallen township last year but his was one of the two one-room schools closed in that township since last year.

Mrs. William Cowan, Huntington township, takes the place of Clyde Kennedy at Whitcomb's View school in Huntington township. Kennedy has been drafted into the Army.

Mrs. Mabel Divinye, Hanover, fills the vacancy caused by the resignation of Mrs. Evelyn W. Bucher, Littlestown, at Felty's school in Union township.

Mrs. Grace Noel, Littlestown, has resigned as teacher at Slate Ridge school in Germany township, to accept a teaching position in Penn township, York county. A Mrs. Hawk of Hanover has been elected to the Slate Ridge school.

KLUUNK WILL FILED

The will of John G. Klunk, late of McSherrystown, has been placed on record at the court house disposing of an estate worth $2,300 in real estate and personal property. A son, Charles D. Klunk, York, is the executor.

LAUDS MARTIN AS STRONG MAN FOR GOVERNOR

"Edward Martin has what it takes to be a war governor. After the war we'll need a strong man, a great administrator with a thorough knowledge of the state. In war or peace General Martin will be a great governor for you."

With those words Pennsylvania's attorney general, Claude T. Reno, ended his speech Saturday evening in the court house at the last big Republican rally of the current campaign. Other speakers during the evening were Chester H. Gross, York county, party nominee for Congress; Francis Worley, Latimore township, GOP nominee for representative in the General Assembly, and Leighton C. Taylor, Esq., of Bendersville and Washington, D. C.

County Chairman John H. Basehore presided at the meeting which filled the main court room.

Lauds Gov. James
Attorney General Reno was the final speaker on the program. He pointed to the winning of the war as the major concern of all Americans and predicted eventual victory for the Allied nations. He praised the "consistent and persistent co-operation with the all-out war effort given authorities at Washington by Governor James" and charged the Democratic majority in the lower house at Harrisburg with deliberately blocking passage of war-connected legislation because its enactment had been asked by Governor James. That action was taken even though the laws originally had been requested by Washington, he said.

Mr. Reno urged support of the entire Republican ticket and described General Martin as "uniquely fitted by his long career as a soldier and public official" to serve the people of Pennsylvania well during these war days and during the critical reconstruction period that will follow.

Former Congressman Gross told the audience that he has never been more confident of a Republican success at the polls than in this campaign. He urged party workers to "stay on your toes for you're dealing with a desperate crowd. We don't simply want to beat them we want a smashing victory."

Opposes New Deal

He declared "I've always been an opponent of the New Deal and I pray I may always have the courage to say 'no' when the rights and liberties of the people are threatened—and that's exactly why they (the democrats) say I have to be defeated. They've lied, and gyped and double-crossed us until we can't believe anything they say."

He attacked the record of his opponent Congressman Harry L. Haines and said that he (Gross) was responsible for having servicemen's dependents' allotment checks mailed in September instead of waiting until the day before election as originally was planned. Gross said that on a visit to Washington last July as a private citizen he had conferred on the floor of Congress and urged a former colleague there to launch an attack on the November-check (Please Turn to Page 7)

Roosevelt Asks Further War Powers Of Congress

Washington, Nov. 2 (AP)—President Roosevelt asked Congress today to give him sweeping wartime power to suspend any law, particularly tariffs, found interfering with the "free movement of persons, property and information" into and out of the United States.

Asserting that speed and volume of war output have become more than ever before in our history the President to eliminate those peace time restrictions which limit our ability to make the fullest and quickest use of the world's resources.

The President asked that he be empowered for the duration of the war to "suspend the operation of all or any such laws, in such a way as to meet new and perhaps unforeseen problems as they may arise, and on such terms as will enable the chief executive and government agencies to work out in detail parallel action in other countries."

Government agencies, Mr. Roosevelt said, had already removed many administrative restrictions on the movement of war goods, information and persons, but there remained "many legislative obstacles to that movement which impede and delay our war production effort."

Hotel Night Clerk Resigns Position

Stanley F. Paluskiewicz, night clerk at the Hotel Gettysburg, has resigned his position to enter the news agency business in Dundalk, a suburb of Baltimore.

Mr. Paluskiewicz recently purchased the news agency business and took possession over the weekend. His family will remain in Gettysburg until he establishes a residence for them in Dundalk.

No successor has been selected for the position Mr. Paluskiewicz resigned from at the Hotel Gettysburg.

RUSH WORK ON SURVEY OF ALL SKILLED HELP

The Gettysburg office of the United States Employment Service is nearing completion of its task of processing approximately 20,000 occupational questionnaires of draft age men in this area between the ages of 20 and 64, according to an announcement today by Paul B. Pierson, manager.

Pierson said, "This has been a tremendous job, but it is being completed on schedule."

The purpose of the occupational questionnaire survey is to obtain detailed and accurate information on the job skills of all men registered with the Selective Service system, Pierson explained. In addition, the occupational questionnaire forms made it possible to discover cases of workers possessing critical skills urgently needed in the war effort which were not being utilized in their present employment. Such persons are offered the opportunity to transfer to a job in war industry where their skill will be fully utilized. All such transfers are made by the worker on a voluntary basis.

Many Classified
Employment Service procedure involves the separation of the forms into those showing essential skills, critical skills, and those showing neither essential nor critical skills. The group of criticals is then divided into those utilizing their skill in present employment and those not utilizing it.

The latest available summary figures indicate that as of October 1, when the Gettysburg office had processed approximately 60 per cent of the Questionnaires received, a total of 1,400 persons possessing critical skills and 3,000 persons possessing essential skills had been classified. Of those in critical occupations, 350 were not presently working at the critical occupation, the survey shows.

The survey will provide the government with a detailed picture of the occupational characteristics of almost the entire male labor supply in many years.

C. C. DIRECTORS MEETING

The November meeting of the directors of the Gettysburg Chamber of Commerce will be held this evening at 8 o'clock in the Chamber offices in the Kadel building.

HOLD MEMORIAL FOR SAILOR WHO DIED IN ACTION

All Saint's Day was marked at Trinity Evangelical Reformed church Sunday afternoon by a special vesper service at 4 o'clock in the form of a memorial to James Lewis Kendlehart, the first member of Trinity church to give his life in the present World War.

Mr. Kendlehart was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Kendlehart, West Middle street. He graduated from Gettysburg high school and in 1937 enlisted in the United States Navy. He quickly rose from the ranks of an ordinary seaman to that of Machinist Mate First Class and was assigned to a warship. He married Miss Mary Winters of Boston, Mass., while stationed at Boston Harbor several years ago. He was the father of twin daughters, born in Honolulu.

He met his death while on active duty in the battle of the Solomons August 7th. The details of his death are not known because of strict censorship excepting that he died in thirty minutes.

As to the character of Mr. Kendlehart his commanding officer writes thus: "He was held in high esteem by the officers and men of his ship and we take pride in saying that in his final actions he showed courage and heroism in full keeping with the tradition of the naval service and our country."—Rev. Howard S. Fox, pastor, said in his eulogy.

Mr. Kendlehart's body was buried at sea. At the close of the service Rev. Mr. Fox read the committal service for burial at sea using a spray of flowers to designate the body.

The service which was largely attended by relatives and friends was conducted by Rev. Fox who also read the eulogy and preached the sermon. The senior choir of the church sang the anthem "No Shadows Yonder" and a quartette from the choir sang "The Hymn of the Navy." Claude Dundore, of Gettysburg College, guest soloist, sang "One Sweetly Solemn Thought."

Mr. Kendlehart's widow Mrs. Mary Winters Kendlehart, Boston, Mass., was in attendance at the service.

This was the first memorial service for a Gettysburg man in the current conflict.

Observance, in the form of a memorial service, of the first anniversary of the treacherous attack on Pearl Harbor, was to be decided at a meeting of a Gettysburg committee in the parlors of the Hotel Gettysburg this afternoon.

The observance was first suggested in this column several days ago. Since then many Gettysburgians have voiced approval of the plan to hold memorial services for those Americans and others of the Allied Nations who lost their lives in the unprovoked assault on Pearl Harbor.

It has been suggested that the services be held on Sunday evening, December 6, with a Protestant and Catholic clergyman and a Jewish Rabbi participating.

The committee to decide upon such an observance this afternoon includes: Dr. A. R. Wentz, the Rev. Fr. Mark E. Stock, the Rev. Howard S. Fox, the Rev. Seth Morrow, Parker Wagnild and Paul L. Roy.

Bob worked long, hard hours to complete the work on Friday. Sometime after 7 o'clock in the evening someone hurled the barricade and walked through the newly poured concrete. Bob heard about it and worked from 11 o'clock in the evening until 3 o'clock in the morning repairing the damage. At 7 o'clock the (Please Turn to Page 1)

OBSERVER SEES TURKEY LINED AGAINST BOCHE

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

London, Nov. 2.—The grave declaration by President Ismet Inonu of Turkey that his country is nearer war than at any time since the world conflict started—on a cause he does not specify—may be taken as a warning to his people of the danger of an Axis attack and a notification to Hitler that the Turks are not asleep.

What the astute Inonu has in mind seems clear. Long ago I called attention to the likelihood that if Hitler were frustrated in his interlocking Caucasus and Egyptian campaigns, he likely would try to reach the Middle East either by attacking Turkey or through by-passing Turkey and making an assault on Syria with air and water-borne forces.

Hitler Worried

Well, frustration appears to be riding the Fuehrer's shoulders like the old man of the sea. Undoubtedly he will make further desperate efforts to crack this Middle Eastern nut, for it represents his only hope of winning the war.

That certainly put Turkey on the hot spot. It would make small difference whether Hitler attacked the Turks direct or by-passed them at the outset, for they could hardly avoid being involved in any event.

Of course, Turkey might have her choice of joining the Axis or the Allies, but ever since the war began all indications have been that if she had to abandon neutrality she would fight for the United Nations. That is the reason Hitler has been so careful not to antagonize the Turks but on the contrary to keep their good will.

Inonu Sees Trouble

Naturally it is problematical whether the Nazi leader could make such an attack in view of the terrific jam he is in on the Russian front. However, presumably Inonu sees signs which point to trouble.

If the Germans do attempt such an adventure it would mean that they would perform a holding operation on the Caucasus battlefield while flinging the Army either at Syria or directly at Turkey.

From the standpoint of weather and perhaps of strategy, the Syrian gamble might seem more desirable if it were to be undertaken in the near future. If Hitler intends to wait until spring, then he might decide to go for the Turks.

The Nazi chief's great difficulty in attacking Syria would be to muster sufficient air strength, since that would be his chief weapon at the outset and would also provide much of his early transport. He is short of airplanes, short of pilots and short of both gasoline and oil, according to my information from a reliable source.

Rommel Needs Help

Moreover, he presumably will strain every nerve to send air support to Rommel in Egypt. Lack of air power is Rommel's greatest weakness.

Still, the German mind plans a long way ahead and it wouldn't be surprising to see the development which Inonu apparently has in mind as a possibility. In view of the circumstances there is much significance in his statement "that political institutions founded on domination by a single power cannot be maintained."

That would seem at once to be a declaration of Turkish policy and a prediction that the Axis cannot win the war.

CATHOLICS ARE PLEDGED TO WIN WAR FROM AXIS

Philadelphia, Nov. 2 (AP)—The might of the Roman Catholic Church in America for victory in the war effort was placed before the world with authority and great dignity yesterday by Dennis Cardinal Dougherty, archbishop of Philadelphia, during a solemn pontifical mass heard by 21,000 at Convention hall.

Red-robed and red-hatted the cardinal stood at the microphones which carried his voice around the world and warned Americans of the fate they face if the Axis wins.

"If we lose the war this land will be the choice prize of despots," he said in a voice that trembled with emotion. "It will be pounced upon by vultures which will devour it to the bone."

"We shall have the points of bayonets at our throats and the muzzles of muskets pressed against our heads. If one wishes to picture our fate in case of defeat he has only to look at what has taken place in the conquered parts of Europe . . . We must, we will win the victory," he said.

Mass for Victory

The mass was offered for victory, a lasting peace and for the repose of the souls of war victims. Speaking by short wave to the American men under arms the cardinal added: "We pray that in every battle with our enemies God's protecting hand may be stretched over you."

A message from President Roosevelt and a sermon by Auxiliary Bishop Hugh L. Lamb, of Philadelphia, also were broadcast. The President's message urged that in these days of crises "we must all unite in labor and in prayer to achieve victory and to bring back to the world an international order dominated by true Christian principles."

Notables in attendance included Attorney General Francis Biddle, Associate Justice Owen J. Roberts of the Supreme court, Governor Arthur H. James, Postmaster General Frank C. Walker and Mrs. Manuel Quezon, wife of the president of the Philippine commonwealth.

FDR PONDERING APPOINTMENT OF FOOD DIRECTOR

By OVID A. MARTIN

Washington, Nov. 2 (AP)—Eating habits of American civilians for the duration of the war may be determined by the decision President Roosevelt makes on a proposal that he appoint a food administrator to control production and consumption.

The proposal, advanced by War Production Board Chairman Donald M. Nelson, reflects sharp and fundamental differences within the government over war food requirements and the possibility of further shortages.

On the one hand are those—including Secretary of Agriculture Wickard—who believe that food production should be maintained at as near present record levels as possible in order that civilians as well as the United Nations fighting forces may have well-balanced diets.

Farm Machinery Issue

On the other are those—including some War Production Board officials and military authorities—who believe that the country cannot meet both its military manpower and material needs and still maintain agricultural production at anywhere near present levels.

This latter group contends that, in the interest of a quick and successful conclusion of the war, food production should be stripped largely to cereals, potatoes, and vegetable oil crops for civilians. Production of meats, dairy and poultry products and vegetables, they believe should be reduced to a level deemed necessary to provide military and lend-lease requirements.

Another issue has been allocation of materials for farm machinery. The WPB will allow farmers to get only 25 per cent as much machinery as they bought in 1940. Wickard believes this far too small.

Causing other disagreements is the matter of controlling existing food supplies. Wickard is known to favor immediate allocation or rationing programs for all major classes of food to make present supplies last as long as possible and to prevent hoarding.

Property Transfers

E. A. Meyer and Josephine L. Meyer, Biglerville, sold to Henry D. and Anita R. Lower, Butler township, a six-acre property in Butler township.

Philip Roser is charged by Special Officer Paul E. Jacobs and Kurvin Burgard by Special Officer Archie Himes. The defendants were released on their own recognizance for hearings Wednesday evening before Justice Basehore. Authorities said additional charges may be laid against the 25 or more additional youths involved in the alleged rowdism.

HUNTER SHOT; ATTORNEY HELD

Coatesville, Pa., Nov. 2 (AP)—A 40-year-old attorney was held in Chester county jail at West Chester today charged with the murder of Willard Copeland, 38, of nearby Sadsburyville, on the opening day of the small game hunting season Saturday.

Deputy Coroner Fred B. Manship said charges against Stephen Devereux, married and the father of three, had been preferred late Saturday by District Attorney Thomas C. Gawthrop before Justice of the Peace Raymond Heald at West Chester.

Manship reported that Devereux and Copeland's wife, who accompanied her husband on the hunting trip, had given "entirely different versions of the affair." Mrs. Copeland, Manship said, told him that Devereux jumped out from behind a clump of bushes as her husband crossed into the attorney's property near Sadsburyville to retrieve a rabbit he had shot. She told Manship Devereux fired without warning and that the attorney had threatened her after shooting her husband.

Varied Version

The deputy coroner said Devereux's version of the affair was that Mrs. Copeland was not present when he ordered her husband to get off his property and that when an argument ensued he (Devereux) fired a bullet from his .38 calibre pistol into the air. Manship quoted the attorney as saying that "when Copeland raised his shotgun I fired again, low." Copeland was killed instantly by a bullet which struck near his heart.

Manship implored a jury and planned an inquest tonight.

55-YARD PASS FOR TOUCHDOWN FEATURES WIN

"Hec" Bream's Gettysburg college football team took to the air again on Saturday to defeat a scrappy Drexel Institute outfit 18-0 here in an Eastern Pennsylvania Intercollegiate conference game before a crowd of less than 2,000 persons.

Tony Yoviesin, Jim Hardy and Dick March each tabbed touchdowns, the Bullets tallying in the first, third and final periods.

One of the prettiest plays of the game resulted in Gettysburg's first touchdown which came near the end of the opening quarter. After several exchanges of punts the Bullets took possession of the ball on the Dragons' 43 at which point Clyde had punted out of bounds.

After falling to punt Jim Hardy dropped back to his own 45 yard line and fired a 55-yard pass to Tony Yoviesin in the end zone for a score. Blackwood's placement for the extra point was wide.

Yoviesin Tallies

The Bullets started another drive in the second period which was halted by a pass interception. Beginning on their own 38, the Bullets moved 40 yards through the hard running of Beaver, Hardy and Cervino, but Green intercepted one of Hardy's passes behind the goal line and Drexel took the ball on the 20.

Drexel, through the efforts of Beattie and Harris, piled up two first downs midway in the second period and then Green punted to Wileman who made a 37-yard run-back to the Drexel 42.

After Hardy lost 16 yards on an attempted pass, Cervino crashed through the line and lateraled to Haas for eight yards. Hardy then whipped another of his long tosses to Wileman which was good for 45 yards and a first down on the visitors' 5. After two of Hardy's passes were punted, a third fell into Green's arms for the second time during the period, Drexel taking the ball on the 2 as the half ended.

Drive For Score

Gettysburg staged an uninterrupted march of 54 yards for its second touchdown in the third quarter. Hardy raced around right end for 20 yards to put the ball on the Dragons' 34. Cervino and Beaver took the ball to the 22 and then Beaver and Hardy on successive plays reached the 12. On a reverse Beaver picked up five yards and then Hardy went around right end for the score. Again Blackwood's kick was wide.

Late in the third period the Dragons, aided by a 45-yard pass by Harris to the Bullets' 22, threatened to score but the Bream-men braced and took the ball on the 18.

In the last quarter the Bullets marched from their own 27 to Drexel's 17 but could not summon enough punch for a score.

Dick March carried back a Dragon punt from midfield to the visitors' 26 and then launched a one-man assault which finally resulted in him plunging over from the one-yard mark. Blackwood's kick was blocked and an unsuccessful attempt was made to run the ball for the extra point.

Saturday's victory marked the sixth straight time the Bullets have won over a Drexel team.

Bullets Hold Advantage

Coach Bream's boys were superior throughout, recording 16 first downs and making good on three of 11 passes. Drexel made six first downs and completed six out of 16 aerials.

The Sigma Chi fraternity purchased the football used in the game during the auction at half time for $1,500 in war bonds.

Australia Sets Up New Farm Program

Melbourne, Australia, Nov. 2 (AP)—The federal government's decision to create a commonwealth directorate of agriculture with supreme authority for agricultural planning for the whole of Australia was announced today.

The creation of the directorate represents a revolutionary change in Australia's agricultural policy since agricultural questions previously had been left largely to the states.

20-Year Old Back Leads All Scorers

New York, Nov. 2 (AP)—Eddie McGovern, 20-year-old Rose Poly halfback, garnered five touchdowns and five extra points Saturday as Rose drubbed Franklin, also of Indiana, and lured his point collection for four games to 166—the best collegiate mark in the nation.

McGovern came from nowhere a week ago with a 42-point outburst. All his games have been against teams in Rose Poly's league, the Indiana Collegiate conference.

The hip-swinging demonstration shunted Bob Steuber of Missouri, to second place among the leaders in various sections. Steuber, leader a week ago with 83 points, was kept completely in check by the sailors of Great Lakes and did not add to his total.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

New York, Nov. 2 (AP)—This is one day when baseball players may be worrying about the draft, but aren't afraid of it. . . . Anybody whose name comes out of the hat at Chicago will get a chance in the majors—and he'll have pretty good prospects of sticking if he is classified 3-A or 4-P in the other draft. . . . The major leaguers apparently were looking for unusual developments when they decided to hold the draft meeting today instead of just before the World Series, and it looks as if the real surprising development is that more players are eligible than ever before. . . . A new rule is that a minor league club can name as many players as it wants on an "unrestricted draft list" instead of having a half called automatically when one man is taken from a team. . . . and we hear that the Portland Coast league outfit, for one, put its whole squad on the list.

This unrestricted draft business, as we get it, grew out of one of Judge Landis' anti-farm rulings. . . . The old system was for a team with a lot of farms to switch all the good prospects to one club, then as soon as one was drafted the rest were safe. . . . But the rule now reads that one club can't keep control of a player more than three years unless he is subject to the draft, so all the three-year men have to go into that unrestricted group or go out of the chain anyway. . . . What a business—and we once thought baseball was a game!

about such difficulties as having a varsity squad that included 11 freshmen who only meet the upperclassmen when they have a game, having to play a one-armed lineman and a few other such difficulties, but he's a bit embarrassed about a happening at a recent freshman game. . . . Trying to give all the kids some action, Foxy saw a big fellow on the bench and hollered "go in at right tackle." . . . When the big guy didn't move, Flumere inquired how come and found he was the janitor of a nearby apartment house.

West Chester upset Albright, 6 to 0, while Gettysburg trampled Drexel, 18 to 0. Penn Military came close to ending Delaware's long winning streak, but after leading, 14-0, yielded three second half touchdowns to lose.

STATE TEAMS STAGE UPSETS TO BEAT FOES

By TED MEIER

Philadelphia, Nov. 2 (AP)—Philadelphia is one of the best, if not the best, football towns in the United States where first rate gridiron of football are the usual fare from week to week.

The week-end just ended was typical. Pennsylvania, Villanova and Temple all figured in national upsets.

Penn. in the opinion of many, wasn't to be rated in the same class with Army. But 69,000 at Franklin field saw the previously undefeated Cadets go down to a 19 to 0 setback.

Manhattan, with its best team in years, was generally supposed to make mince-meat of Villanova. But Villanova, sparked by Al Postus' 73-yard run and Joe Pezelski's 56-yard sprint, walloped the Kelly Greens, 22 to 0.

Temple was to be merely a door-mat for Michigan State Spartans. What happened? Temple should have won, 7-0, but the Spartans came from behind to gain a tie in the last five minutes.

Other Winners

Penn State's Nittany Lions disappointed by taking a 24-0 lacing from West Virginia, but Bucknell, led by Chet Podd, came through with an upset 13-7 victory over Lafayette, and Scranton took to the air to tie a favored Lakehurst Naval eleven, 14-14.

Charley Tree, of Harrisburg, ran 50 yards to give Franklin-Marshall a 14-14 deadlock with Western Maryland. Lehigh's improved Engineers swamped Hampden-Sydney, 51 to 6, while Muhlenberg chalked up its fifth win in six starts by trimming Dickinson.

West Chester upset Albright, 6 to 0, while Gettysburg trampled Drexel, 18 to 0. Penn Military came close to ending Delaware's long winning streak, but after leading, 14-0, yielded three second half touchdowns to lose.

27 College Teams Have Clean Records

New York, Nov. 2 (AP)—Some of the nation's most powerful college football teams suffered their first defeats of the season the past week-end, but at least 27 others remained unbeaten and untied, with Tulsa (Okla.) university topping the list.

Only one other team—Idaho university, Southern branch—has kept its goal line unbreached and it has been inactive for two weeks and has played only three games.

Three teams—Georgia, Duquesne of Iowa and University of South Dakota—have played and won seven games, while five others besides Tulsa have won six in a row.

Seven Pennsylvanians hunters died on the opening day of the state's 25-day small game season Saturday but only one was a victim of gunfire. Reports of game kills varied from "more plentiful than anticipated" in some sections to "spotty" in other areas.

Willard Copeland, 32, of Sadsburyville, was the only victim of gunfire. He was shot and killed on the Chester county farm of Attorney Stephen Devereux, Deputy Coroner.

Five other hunters were victims of heart attacks and another was killed by a Pennsylvania railroad train as he crossed the tracks while gunning four miles south of Columbia. He was Harry Rigel, 59, of Columbia.

Other Victims

The victims of heart attacks were: Ammon M. Umholtz, 45, national advertising manager of the Bethlehem Globe-Times and the Eastern Free Press, who died near Easton.

Harvey E. Huff, 49, of Bellefonte, a parole agent for the Justice department. He died near his home.

Robert G. Edwards, 38, of Tamaqua, who collapsed in West Penn township near Tamaqua and died in Coaldale hospital.

Kalenty Strangulowsky, 55, Philadelphia, who collapsed near Harleysville, Montgomery county.

Nathaniel L. Bauer, 67, retired railroad worker, who died while gunning with friends near Palmyra.

Several non-fatal accidents were reported:

Four-year-old Robert Ford, of Marshall township, was critically injured when accidentally shot by his uncle, John Neal, of Ingomar.

John Spinnak, 11, of Pittsburgh, suffered a thigh wound from a buckshot charge fired by an unidentified hunter and David Weaverling, 15, of McDonald, was struck in the eye by a glancing bullet fired by a companion.

Other Casualties

Birdshot fired by a companion wounded Ray Huddle, 26, of New Kensington, in the chest and arms.

Mrs. Louise Wright, of Covington, and Owen Baumgartner, of Williamsport, were injured in shooting accidents near Williamsport; Norman Fern, of Sharon, was shot in the right leg and arm and Robert E. Lead, of Lancaster, was injured in the left eye.

From Seth Gordon, secretary of the state Game commission, came reports that game was "more plentiful than anticipated" in the southwestern section of the state where he gunned. From other sections came varied reports of "spotty" conditions to "plenty of game."

Commission representatives estimated that 500,000 hunters were in the fields but Gordon said it was evident this figure was far less than on the opening day of last season.

PACKERS KICK PRO RECORDS TO WIN 55-24

Chicago, Nov. 2 (AP)—The magic wand of football, Cecil Isbell's arm, has become the most overworked weapon in the National Football League, throwing the Green Bay Packers to victory and the record books out the window.

Isbell shook five touchdown passes from his sleeve yesterday as the Packers crushed the Chicago Cardinals 55 to 24.

Five records were set and two others equaled in the Packer-Cardinal game:

1. Isbell completed 10 of 21 passes for 330 yards, surpassing Davey O'Brien's gain of 316 in 1940.

2. Green Bay picked up 427

yards through the air, topping the Chicago Bears' mark of 376 last year—made also against the Cardinals.

3. The scoring total, 55-24-79, was the highest in National Football League history.

4. Don Hutson place kicked six extra points, breaking the old record of five in a single game held by three different players.

5. The game's 11 touchdowns eclipsed the 1934 mark of 10 made in the Philadelphia-Cincinnati game.

6. Isbell's five touchdown pitches equaled the record held by Ray Buivid of the Bears since 1937. Buivid's scoring shots also were against the Cards.

7. Hutson's three catches of touchdown passes raised his season's ante to 10, which drew him even with his 1941 league record—and he has five games yet to go.

Last Second Boot

The Washington Redskins, plying along in a two-game lead in the Eastern division, downed the Philadelphia Eagles 30 to 27. Bob Master-son booted a sharp-angled 10-yard field goal as the gun ended the game. Just previously, the Eagles had marched 65 yards for a touchdown to tie the count 27-27. The fans were kept on edge by a dazzling brace of 97-yard touchdown runs by Bosn Pritchard of Philadelphia and Ray Hare of Washington.

The Cleveland Rams virtually ruined the Brooklyn Dodgers' Eastern division title chances by scooping up a 17 to 0 triumph.

Rolling to their 19th consecutive win, the Bears used Charley O'Rourke's 33-yard pass to Ray McClean and Sid Luckman's 20-yard toss to Harry Clark to reach touchdowns and hand the Detroit Lions their seventh straight setback, 16 to 0, in a successful debut for Coaches Luke Johnson and Hunk Anderson.

55-YARD PASS FOR TOUCHDOWN FEATURES WIN

"Hen" Bream's Gettysburg college football team took to the air again on Saturday to defeat a scrappy Drexel Institute outfit 18-0 here in an Eastern Pennsylvania Intercollegiate conference game before a crowd of less than 2,000 persons.

Tony Yoviesin, Jim Hardy and Dick March each tabbed touchdowns, the Bullets tallying in the first, third and final periods.

One of the prettiest plays of the game resulted in Gettysburg's first touchdown which came near the end of the opening quarter. After several exchanges of punts the Bullets took possession of the ball on the Dragons' 43 at which point Clyde had punted out of bounds. After failing to gain, Jim Hardy dropped back to his own 45 yard line and fired a 55-yard pass to Tony Yoviesin in the end zone for a score. Blackwood's placement for the extra point was wide.

Yoviesin Tallyes
The Bullets started another drive in the second period which was halted by a pass interception. Beginning on their own 38, the Bullets moved 40 yards through the hard running of Beaver, Hardy and Cervino, but Green intercepted one of Hardy's passes behind the goal line and Drexel took the ball on the 20.

Drexel, through the efforts of Beattie and Harris, piled up two first downs midway in the second period and then Green punted to Wileman who made a 37-yard run-back to the Drexel 43.

After Hardy lost 16 yards on an attempted pass, Cervino crashed through the line and lateraled to Haas for eight yards. Hardy then whipped another of his long tosses to Wileman which was good for 45 yards and a first down on the visitors' 5. After two of Hardy's passes were grounded, a third fell into Green's arms for the second time during the period, Drexel taking the ball on the 2 as the half ended.

Drive For Score
Gettysburg staged an uninterrupted march of 54 yards for its second touchdown in the third quarter. Hardy raced around right end for 20 yards to put the ball on the Dragons' 34. Cervino and Beaver took the ball to the 23 and then Beaver and Hardy on successive tries reached the 12. On a reverse Beaver picked up five yards and then Hardy went around right end for the score. Again Blackwood's kick was wide.

Late in the third period the Dragons, aided by a 45-yard pass by Harris to the Bullets' 22, threatened to score but the Bream-men braced and took the ball on the 18.

In the last quarter the Bullets marched from their own 27 to Drexel's 17 but could not summon enough punch for a score.

Dick March carried back a Dragon punt from midfield to the visitors' 26 and then launched a one-man assault which finally resulted in him plunging over from the one-yard mark. Blackwood's kick was blocked and an unsuccessful attempt was made to run the ball for the extra point.

Saturday's victory marked the sixth straight time the Bullets have won over a Drexel team.

Bullets Hold Advantage
Coach Bream's boys were superior throughout, recording 16 first downs and making good on three of 11 passes. Drexel made six first downs and completed six out of 16 aerials.

The Sigma Chi fraternity purchased the football used in the game during the auction at half time for $1,500 in war bonds.

Australia Sets Up New Farm Program

Melbourne, Australia, Nov. 2 (AP)—The federal government's decision to create a commonwealth directorate of agriculture with supreme authority for agricultural planning for the whole of Australia was announced today.

The creation of the directorate represents a revolutionary change in Australia's agricultural policy since agricultural questions previously had been left largely to the states.

20-Year Old Back Leads All Scorers

New York, Nov. 2 (AP)—Eddie McGovern, 20-year-old Rose Poly halfback, garnered five touchdowns and five extra points Saturday as Rose drubbed Franklin, also of Indiana, and hiked his point collection for four games to 106—the best collegiate mark in the nation.

McGovern came from nowhere a week ago with a 43-point outburst. All his games have been against teams in Rose Poly's league, the Indiana Collegiate conference.

His hip-swinging demonstration shunted Bob Steuber of Missouri, to second place among the leaders in various sections. Steuber, leader a week ago with 83 points, was kept completely in check by the sailors of Great Lakes and did not add to his total.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

New York, Nov. 2 (AP)—This is one day when baseball players may be worrying about the draft, but aren't afraid of it. . . . Anybody whose name comes out of the hat at Chicago will get a chance in the majors—and he'll have pretty good prospects of sticking if he is classified 3-A or 4-P in the other draft.

The major leaguers apparently were looking for unusual developments when they decided to hold the draft meeting today instead of just before the World Series, and it looks as if the real surprising development is that more players are eligible than ever before. . . . A new rule is that a minor league club can name as many players as it wants on an "unrestricted draft list" instead of having a half called automatically when one man is taken from a team. . . . We hear that the Portland Coast League outfit, for one, put its whole squad on the list.

This unrestricted draft business, as we get it, grew out of one of Judge Landis' anti-farm rulings. . . . The old system was for a team with a lot of farms to switch all the good prospects to one club, then as soon as one was drafted the rest were safe. . . . But the rule now reads that one club can't keep control of a player more than three years unless he is subject to the draft, so all the three-year men have to go into that unrestricted group or go out of the chain anyway. . . . What a business—and we once thought baseball was a game!

TODAY'S GUEST STAR
Deak Morse, St. Johnsbury (Vt.) Caledonian-Record: "Dartmouth gives free tuition to certain real Indians, but that shouldn't be construed to mean that Gandhi is going to be seen in Dartmouth's naked reverse. They mean American Indians."

MONDAY MATINEE
The national semi-pro baseball Congress has adopted red caps, white trousers and blue coats as the costume for umpires in its 1943 tournament at Wichita, Kas. But there won't be anything high hat about those Uncle Sam outfits. . . . Ben White and Bill Strang have decided to keep their 1942 Hambletonian winner, the Ambassador, out of training next season. Strang still has his excellency, for whom he recently refused $10,000. . . . George Lewis, son of Herbie, the Indianapolis hockey coach, is playing halfback on an Indianapolis high school football team. A teammate is Jim Allerdice, who is said to be even better than Princeton's Dave. . . . Headline: "Turkmen face shortage of horse cars." . . . We thought they all had disappeared years ago.

WRONG SIGNAL
Foxy Flumere, Northeastern U. football coach, hasn't complained about such difficulties as having a varsity squad that included 11 freshmen who only meet the upperclassmen when they have a game, having to play a one-armed lineman and a few other such difficulties, but he's a bit embarrassed about a happening at a recent freshman game. . . . Trying to give all the kids some action, Foxy saw a big fellow on the bench and hollered "go in at right tackle." . . . When the big guy didn't move, Flumere inquired how come and found he was the janitor of a nearby apartment house.

SERVICE DEPT.
Lieut. E. C. Waters, soccer coach at the North Carolina Navy Pre-Flight school, makes a habit of producing undefeated teams. He had seven in eleven years at West Chester, Pa. Teachers and his Cloud-busters haven't lost so far. . . . Michael (King Kong) Nolan, an almost legendary figure in Arizona football because of the way he played tackle a half dozen years ago, was one of 39 Marines selected from the enlisted ranks to become officers because they had demonstrated qualities of leadership. . . . Cadet Ed Ellingboe, who captained the Iowa Seahawks cross country team until he was "graduated" left a record of 70 "pushups" for the other cadets to aim at.

The true sardine is not a dwarf fish, but the young of the pilchard—a species of herring.

Other Winners
Penn State's Nittany Lions disappointed by taking a 24-0 lacing from West Virginia, but Bucknell, led by Chet Podd, came through with an upset 13-7 victory over Lafayette, and Scranton took to the air to tie a favored Lakehurst Naval eleven, 14-14.

Charley Trees, of Harrisburg, ran 50 yards to give Franklin-Marshall a 14-14 deadlock with Western Maryland. Leigh's Improved Engineers swamped Hampden-Sydney, 51 to 6, while Muhlenberg chalked up its fifth win in six starts by trimming Dickinson.

West Chester upset Albright, 6 to 0, while Gettysburg trampled Drexel, 18 to 0. Penn Military came close to ending Delaware's long winning streak, but after leading, 14-0, yielded three second half touchdowns to lose.

Haverford and Juniata continued and untied. The Fords defeated Wesleyan for the first time in seven years while the Indians from Huntington swamped Westminster.

Pitt took over Carnegie while Duquesne, after losing two in a row, defeated St. Vincent, 14-0.

Other Victims
The victims of heart attacks were: Ammon M. Umholtz, 45, national advertising manager of the Bethlehem Globe-Times and the Easton Free Press, who died near Easton.

Harvey E. Huff, 49, of Bellefonte, a parole agent for the Justice Department. He died near his home.

Robert G. Edwards, 38, of Tamaqua, who collapsed in West Penn township near Tamaqua and died in Coaldale hospital.

Kalenty Strangulowsky, 56, Philadelphia, who collapsed near Harleysville, Montgomery county.

Nathaniel L. Bauer, 67, retired railroad worker, who died while gunning with friends near Palmyra.

Several non-fatal accidents were reported: Four-year-old Robert Ford, of Marshall township, was critically injured when accidentally shot by his uncle, John Neal, of Ingomar.

John Spinnak, 11, of Pittsburgh, suffered a thigh wound from a buckshot charge fired by an unidentified hunter and David Weaverling, 15, of McDonald, was struck in the eye by a glancing bullet fired by a companion.

Other Casualties
Birdshot fired by a companion wounded Ray Huddle, 26, of New Kensington, in the chest and arms.

Mrs. Louise Wright, of Covington, and Owen Baumgartner, of Williamsport, were injured in shooting accidents near Williamsport; Norman Fern, of Sharon, was shot in the right leg and arm and Robert E. Leed, of Lancaster, was injured in the left eye.

From Seth Gordon, secretary of the state Game commission, came reports that game was "more plentiful than anticipated" in the southwestern section of the state where he gunned. From other sections came varied reports of "spotty" conditions to "plenty of game."

Commission representatives estimated that 500,000 hunters were in the fields but Gordon said it was evident this figure was far less than on the opening day of last season.

SEVEN HUNTERS DIE SATURDAY; ONLY ONE SHOT

(By The Associated Press)
Seven Pennsylvania hunters died on the opening day of the state's 25-day small game season Saturday but only one was a victim of gunfire. Reports of game kills varied from "more plentiful than anticipated" in some sections to "spotty" in other areas.

Willard Copeland, 38, of Sadsburyville, was the only victim of gunfire. He was shot and killed on the Chester county farm of Attorney Stephen Devereux, Deputy Coroner Fred B. Manship, of Coatesville, ordered the attorney held on a murder charge pending an inquest.

Five other hunters were victims of heart attacks and another was killed by a Pennsylvania railroad train as he crossed the tracks while gunning four miles south of Columbia. He was Harry Rigel, 59, of Columbia.

STATE TEAMS STAGE UPSETS TO BEAT FOES

By TED MEIER

Philadelphia, Nov. 2 (AP)—Philadelphia is one of the best, if not the best, football towns in the United States where first rate gridiron offerings are the usual fare from week to week.

The week-end just ended was typical. Pennsylvania, Villanova and Temple all figured in national upsets.

Penn. in the opinion of many, wasn't to be rated in the same class with Army. But 68,000 at Franklin field saw the previously undefeated Cadets go down to a 19 to 0 setback.

Manhattan, with its best team in years, was generally supposed to make mincemeat of Villanova. But Villanova, sparked by Al Postus' 78-yard run and Joe Pezelski's 56-yard sprint, walloped the Kelly Greens, 32 to 0.

Temple was to be merely a doormat for Michigan State's Spartans. What happened? Temple should have won, 7-0, but the Spartans came from behind to gain a tie in the last five minutes.

PACKERS KICK PRO RECORDS TO WIN 55-24

Chicago, Nov. 2 (AP)—The magic wand of football, Cecil Isbell's arm, has become the most overworked weapon in the National Football League, throwing the Green Bay Packers to victory and the record books out the window.

Isbell shook five touchdown passes from his sleeve yesterday as the Packers crushed the Chicago Cardinals 55 to 24.

Five records were set and two others equalled in the Packer-Cardinal game:

1. Isbell completed 10 of 21 passes for 330 yards, surpassing Davey O'Brien's gain of 316 in 1940.

2. Green Bay picked up 427

yards through the air, topping the Chicago Bears' mark of 376 last year—made also against the Cardinals.

3. The scoring total, 55-24—79, was the highest in National Football league history.

4. Don Hutson place kicked six extra points, breaking the old record of five in a single game held by three different players.

5. The game's 11 touchdowns eclipsed the 1934 mark of 10 made in the Philadelphia-Cincinnati game.

6. Isbell's five touchdown pitches equalled the record held by Ray Buivid of the Bears since 1937. Buivid's scoring shots also were against the Cards.

7. Hutson's three catches of touchdown passes raised his season's ante to 10, which drew him even with his 1941 league record—and he has five games yet to go.

Last Second Boot
The Washington Redskins, playing along in a two-game lead in the Eastern division, downed the Philadelphia Eagles 30 to 27. Bob Master-son booted a sharp-angled 10-yard field goal as the gun ended the game. Just previously, the Eagles had marched 65 yards for a touchdown to tie the count 27-27. The fans were kept on edge by a dazzling brace of 97-yard touchdown runs by Bosh Pritchard of Philadelphia and Ray Hare of Washington.

27 College Teams Have Clean Records

New York, Nov. 2 (AP)—Some of the nation's most powerful college football teams suffered their first defeats of the season the past week-end, but at least 27 others remained unbeaten and untied, with Tulsa (Okla.) university topping the list.

Only one other team—Idaho university, Southern branch—has kept its goal line uncrossed and it has been inactive for two weeks and has played only three games.

Three teams—Georgia, Dubuque of Iowa and Augustana of South Dakota—have played and won seven games, while five others besides Tulsa have won six in a row.

OBSERVER SEES TURKEY LINED AGAINST BOCHE

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

London, Nov. 2.—The grave declaration by President Ismet Inonu of Turkey that his country is nearer war than at any time since the world conflict started—from a cause he does not specify—may be taken as a warning to his people of the danger of an Axis attack and a notification to Hitler that the Turks are not asleep.

What the astute Inonu has in mind seems clear. Long ago I called attention to the likelihood that if Hitler were frustrated in his interlocking Caucasus and Egyptian campaigns, he likely would try to reach the Middle East either by attacking Turkey or through by-passing Turkey and making an assault on Syria with air and water-borne forces.

Hitler Worried

Well, frustration appears to be riding the Fuehrer's shoulders like the old man of the sea. Undoubtedly he will make further desperate efforts to crack this Middle Eastern nut, for it represents his only hope of winning the war.

That certainly put Turkey on the hot spot. It would make small difference whether Hitler attacked the Turks direct or by-passed them at the outset, for they could hardly avoid being involved in any event.

Of course, Turkey might have her choice of joining the Axis or the Allies, but ever since the war began all indications have been that if she had to abandon neutrality she would fight for the United Nations. That is the reason Hitler has been so careful not to antagonize the Turks but on the contrary to keep their good will.

Inonu Sees Trouble

Naturally it is problematical whether the Nazi leader could make such an attack in view of the terrific jam he is in on the Russian front. However, presumably Inonu sees signs which point to trouble.

If the Germans do attempt such an adventure it would mean that they would perform a holding operation on the Caucasus battlefield while flinging the Army either at Syria or directly at Turkey.

From the standpoint of weather and perhaps of strategy, the Syrian gamble might seem more desirable if it were to be undertaken in the near future. If Hitler intends to wait until spring, then he might decide to go for the Turks.

The Nazi chief's great difficulty in attacking Syria would be to muster sufficient air strength, since that would be his chief weapon at the outset and would also provide much of his early transport. He is short of airplanes, short of pilots and short of both gasoline and oil, according to my information from a reliable source.

Rommel Needs Help

Moreover, he presumably will strain every nerve to send air support to Rommel in Egypt. Lack of air power is Rommel's greatest weakness.

Still, the German mind plans a long way ahead and it wouldn't be surprising to see the development which Inonu apparently has in mind as a possibility. In view of the circumstances there is much significance in his statement "that political institutions founded on domination by a single power cannot be maintained."

That would seem at once to be a declaration of Turkish policy and a prediction that the Axis cannot win the war.

CATHOLICS ARE PLEGDED TO WIN WAR FROM AXIS

Philadelphia, Nov. 2 (AP)—The might of the Roman Catholic Church in America for victory in the war effort was placed before the world with authority and great dignity yesterday by Dennis Cardinal Dougherty, archbishop of Philadelphia, during a solemn pontifical mass heard by 21,000 at Convention hall.

Red-robed and red-hatted the cardinal stood at the microphones which carried his voice around the world and warned Americans of the fate they face if the Axis wins.

"If we lose the war this land will be the choice prize of despots," he said in a voice that trembled with emotion. "It will be pounced upon by vultures which will devour it to the bone."

"We shall have the points of bayonets at our throats and the muzzles of muskets pressed against our heads. If one wishes to picture our fate in case of defeat he has only to look at what has taken place in the conquered parts of Europe."

"We must, we will win the victory," he said.

Mass for Victory

The mass was offered for victory, a lasting peace and for the repose of the souls of war victims. Speaking by short wave to the American men under arms the cardinal added: "We pray that in every battle with our enemies God's protecting hand may be stretched over you."

A message from President Roosevelt and a sermon by Auxiliary Bishop Hugh L. Lamb, of Philadelphia, also were broadcast. The President's message urged that in these days of crises "we must all unite in labor and in prayer to achieve victory and to bring back to the world an international order dominated by true Christian principles."

Notables in attendance included Attorney General Francis Biddle, Associate Justice Owen J. Roberts of the Supreme court, Governor Arthur H. James, Postmaster General Frank C. Walker and Mrs. Manuel Quezon, wife of the president of the Philippine commonwealth.

Just Folks

By Edgar A. Gues
WAR BRIDE

How far lies the war away? A mother that I know
Got a letter from New Zealand just a week or two ago
Saying: "May I call you mother, though you live so far away?"
Your son and I were married here at Auckland yesterday."

From Michigan the distance down to Auckland's great ghat.
It's a lot of miles to travel to complete some trick of fate.
And that mother of that youngster never dreamed the day would be

When he'd marry in New Zealand, and I'm certain nor did he.

There's a mother in New Zealand who believed some English man

Would have wooed and won her daughter, not a lad from Michigan.

But the war has shortened distance and has altered many lives
And has given to Yankee soldiers very nice New Zealand wives.

Today's Talk

ADVENTURE AND EXPERIENCE

It is inspiring to meet a person spoken of as "alive." You know at once that such a one must be interesting and worth meeting and trying to be as a friend, for the only way to keep alive is to adventure and experiment all through life.

Both adventuring and experimenting keep the mind active and alert. They make the closed mind impossible. It's always open and ready to receive any new idea, or to listen to any new experiment.

Try anything once—if it's honest and promises something worthwhile—but it often pays to try many things over and over again, if for no other reason than that it stimulates the mind and may suggest adventure or experiment undreamed of before.

Many of the great discoveries of the world have been stumbled upon! Watching an apple fall to the ground, a tea kettle steaming on the stove, and a kite in the air, did wonders to the thinking minds that noted them, for out of those observations came great discoveries!

More observation may be a silent adventure or suggest the path to an experiment fraught with endless possibilities.

Henry M. Stanley, who went into the wilds of Africa to search for an obscure missionary, came out of that adventure with a great story of that undeveloped continent which has since inspired an unending number to further discover and develop its untold resources. It is no longer "Darkest Africa."

It is the thrill of adventure that leads so many men and women to attempt "impossible" tasks. And it is the continual train of surprises that keep the experimenter forever at his work.

It is the adventure and the hunt that lie behind almost all collectors in their chosen hobby. They are repaid for their efforts in the thrill of discovery.

The curiosity of a child should always be encouraged, and satisfied wherever possible. Curiosity leads to adventure and to experimentation, which adds to wisdom and rounds out life. Any one of us can learn something to our profit from the adventurous.

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "Hotel Lobbies."

The "Compiler" of Oct. 17, the official organ of "Hex. Our absence from home has prevented any previous notice of this interesting article. On a review of it since our return, we can find nothing worthy of remark. We'll "leave him alone in his glory."

The Gettysburg Springs: The Lithia Springs on the property of Mr. Harman, near this place, are beginning to attract a good deal of attention in various parts of the county, and the demand for the water is rapidly increasing, orders for it coming in almost daily from New York, Philadelphia and western cities. The New York Herald editorially says:

"The remarkable cures that this water has made of chronic diseases are, we believe, beyond doubt, and the character of the water, the historic associations of the place and its beautiful scenery, seem to promise that Gettysburg will soon become famous as a great American watering place."

Inauguration of the Jubilee Services: The Lutheran congregations of this place observed Thursday as a day of special thanksgiving for the blessings of the Reformation, it being the Three Hundred and Fiftieth Anniversary of the day usually reckoned as the inauguration of that great event, viz: October 31, 1517. The morning services in which both congregations participated were held in St. James church. The edifice was appropriately decorated with evergreens, etc.

An appropriate discourse was delivered by Rev. Dr. Brown, of the Theological Seminary. Rev. Dr. Hay, of the Seminary, assisted in the pulpit services. A joint meeting of the Sunday schools was held at the same place, in the afternoon, which was addressed in an interesting manner by Rev. Prof. Conrad, of Pennsylvania college, and Rev. Dr. Hay. In the evening, at the College church, there were addresses by Rev. Profs. Ferrier and Wilken, of the college, the latter speaking in German. Rev. Mr. Breidenbaugh, the pastor of St. James, and Rev. Dr. Baugher. These addresses were preceded by singing by the choir and congregation, prayer and reading of and comments upon portion of the 119th Psalm, by the pastor, Rev. Dr. Hay. The exercises were attended and participated in by large and attentive audiences. The College church was very handsomely trimmed with evergreen and the walls adorned with suitable mottoes in gilt.

Women Will Elect Governor Of Pennsylvania Tuesday

LEADERS LOOK TO "FAIR SEX" FOR VICTORY

(By The Associated Press)

Philadelphia, Nov. 2—Twenty-two years after winning the right to vote, Pennsylvania women tomorrow will wield the balance of power as leadership of the Keystone state during the critical war years ahead is decided at the polls.

Rival governorship aspirants agreed on importance of the feminine vote as they wound up weeks of oratory pegged on winning the war and the peace.

Adjutant General Edward Martin, the Republican nominee, predicted that the fairer sex will decide the election, declaring "in all the years of my experience I have never seen so much interest among women voters."

Urge All to Vote

His Democratic opponent, Auditor General F. Clair Ross, said women had taken "a more important part than in any previous campaign," while Party Chairman David L. Lawrence observed "they'll have a whole lot to say about who is the next Governor."

Both candidates urged all citizens to cast their ballot as the state, in addition to Governor, elects a Lieutenant Governor, Secretary of Internal Affairs, one justice of the Supreme court, one judge of the Superior court, 33 Congressmen, the entire 208 membership of the state House of Representatives and 25 or half the state Senators.

Predicting "an overwhelming vote of confidence in our party," Martin declared "I am not appealing now for votes for myself but I am most earnestly asking every registered voter of the commonwealth to go to the polls and express his or her wishes according to the best judgment and conscience."

Interest Is in War

Ross said "the Republican leaders in Pennsylvania are hoping that a light vote—the failure of the people to vote—will bring them victory." He added "they hope and believe that the developments in the war, activity in war industry, absence of our young men in the armed forces and the movement of industrial voters to new jobs will make this a minority election."

The Democratic nominee declared he would be supported at the polls by "thousands" of (United States Senator James J.) Davis and Willie Republicans and "all four great labor organizations—the AFL, CIO, Railroad Brotherhoods and United Mine Workers."

The public throughout the campaign seems to have been more interested in the war than politics. Democratic and Republican headquarters, however, noted a pick-up in interest during the last few weeks and forecast a bigger vote than the 32 per cent cast in the May primary. There are 4,642,363 voters registered, including 2,616,455 Republicans, 1,965,627 Democrats and 60,281 representing minor parties.

WOMAN, STATE TROOPER, SHOT

Allentown, Pa., Nov. 2 (AP)—A 24-year-old mother, found shot beside the body of a state police officer in Slatington fire hall yesterday, remained in a critical condition in Allentown hospital today.

State Police Lieutenant F. C. Miner of the Bethlehem barracks identified the man as Charles Kern, 44, and the woman as Mrs. Ethel Roberts. Both were shot in the head. They had been neighbors.

The woman regained consciousness briefly last night and, police said, accused Kern of having shot her.

Miner said Kern's service pistol, from which two shots had been fired, was found beside his body on the floor. The woman reclined in a chair beside a half-open window.

The woman's husband, Robert Roberts, was taken into custody by state motor police and questioned all day yesterday. Police said they were holding him on an "open charge" but did not say what connection he had with the case.

Kern, father of two grown daughters, was killed three hours after he completed a tour of duty. He was wearing his uniform.

Passersby heard two shot fired from the second floor of Slatington fire hall and a woman's faint cries for help.

Australian Army Must Act Quicker

Melbourne, Nov. 2 (AP)—Francis M. Forde, Australian Army minister, announced today that new and drastic penalties have been established for undue delay within the Army in carrying out orders.

Needless delay has been caused, he said, by failure of some officers to insist on prompt action and failure of some officers to accept responsibility for making decisions.

Alaska-Mexico Highway Linked

Mexico City, Nov. 2 (AP)—The last link in a complete overland route between Alaska and Central America, of value principally for urgent war purposes, has been forged with the opening of a new half-mile bridge over the Suchiate river between Mexico and Guatemala.

Completion of the span joined the railway systems of Guatemala and Mexico, which now have continuous highway connections with Alaska by virtue of the recent completion of the new road linking that far northern territory with the United States.

SOLONS FACE 2 BIG ISSUES

Washington, Nov. 2 (AP)—Whether teen age soldiers shall be sent into combat without a year of training and whether women enlisted in the Navy and Coast Guard Reserves shall be permitted to serve overseas are among issues facing Congress when it resumes regular business next week.

Both Senate and House have decreed that 18 and 19-year-old youths may be inducted into the armed forces, but have disagreed over the question of giving them a stipulated period of training before putting them under fire.

House Avoids Issue

The House skirted the training by not even voting on it directly, only to have the controversial subject tossed right back in its lap by the Senate which, on a close vote, decided no teen-age inductee should be assigned to combat duty until he had at least 12 months of training.

Roane Waring, national commander of the American Legion, declared his organization was "unalterably opposed" to the pre-combat training proposal.

"It might have a very disastrous effect," he said.

Chairman Reynolds (D-N.C.) of the Senate Military committee voiced personal opposition to the training proposal, declaring it would "hamstring" the Army.

Tired Kidneys Often Bring Sleepless Nights

Doctors say your kidneys contain 15 miles of tiny tubes or filters which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy. When they get tired and don't work right in the daytime, many people have to get up at night. Frequent or easy passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder. Don't neglect this condition and lose valuable, restful sleep.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may also cause sagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

CANADA ADDS TO WAR CURBS

Ottawa, Nov. 2 (AP)—Canada's war economy slipped into a higher gear today and most Canadians felt the resulting change as a series of freezing orders and restrictions went into effect with the opening of business.

Perhaps the most sweeping alteration in Canadian business life was contained in the order by the Board of Prices freezing a variety of business establishments at their present status and forbidding the starting of new businesses except by permit.

The order applies to manufacturers, wholesalers, retailers and ten types of service businesses such as undertaking and embalming, laundering, hairdressing and plumbing and heating.

Other changes: Canadian distilleries ceased making spirits for drinking purposes and concentrated on alcohol production for war purposes.

Canadian breweries were limited in their quarterly use of malt for making beer to the amount used in the corresponding period of last year.

Quotas restricting the production of newsprint, paper and paper-board to the average production rate of the last six months came into effect for the November output.

New Home For Franciscan Monks

Loretto, Pa., Nov. 2 (AP)—Forty-vowed Franciscan monks who lost their quarters in the $200,000 fire which destroyed "Old Main" building of St. Francis college Friday soon will resume their studies in the stately 40-room limestone mansion of the late steelmaster Charles M. Schwab.

The mansion on the Schwab estate, "Immergrun," located just across a highway from the college, was bought October 3 by a committee of "Friends of St. Francis" to present to the college. Transfer of some priests and brothers to the palatial home will provide room for other college buildings for about 200 students who had been sent home after the fire.

Gas Consumption Must Be Curtailed

Washington, Nov. 2 (AP)—Householders were warned today that because of the demands of war plants, coupled with the shortage of oil and coal, domestic consumption of gas must be sharply curtailed this winter.

The War Production Board said last night that the needs of war industries was reducing the reserve margins of many gas plants "to a point where actual shortages may occur during cold weather unless domestic consumption is reduced."

The shortage exists both for natural and artificial gas, WPPB said, urging gas conservation in house heating, cooking and other domestic uses.

The ability of these four-motored slug-gers to deliver devastating blows, protect themselves in the clinches with enemy fighters, and return with relatively few losses, ranks among the war's most spectacular developments of 1942 from the Allied viewpoint.

No longer in any section of the Allied high command is there any tendency to minimize the deadly power and precision of these high-level bombers. On the contrary the best and most creative engineering minds in American industry as well as the Army air forces are concentrating on making these stratospheric slug-gers bigger and tougher for 1943 when the full power of this country's men and machines begins to be wielded on the world's battle fronts.

The Japanese have broadcast that America is building bombers which will carry 10,000 pounds of bombs a distance of 10,000 miles. ## REDS FIGHT TO PROTECT VITAL MILITARY ROAD

Moscow, Nov. 2 (AP)—The Red army fought fiercely throughout the night to defend the approaches to its vital military highway across the Caucasus mountains after a retreat in the Nalchik area yesterday, but the mid-day communique reported that the Germans had been thrown back in various parts of Stalingrad.

Of the critical situation in the Nalchik area, the communique said only that "our troops fought heavy defensive engagements." Four enemy tanks, twelve troop trucks and five guns were reported smashed by Soviet artillery fire.

It was in the Nalchik area that the main German strength seemed to be gathering in the shadow of the towering Caucasus mountain crags. The action in Stalingrad apparently had dwindled to small engagements in scattered sectors.

Scouts Are Active
During the night, the Russians moved aggressively against German positions in the scarred and blackened city and reported that they had captured several buildings from the enemy.

Northwest of the city, Russian scouts broke into the German lines and killed about a company of Ger-needed for objectives on all major fronts. Yet the essential and reassuring fact remains—based upon play-by-play combat reports, plus the laboratory tests of our planes and the enemy's—that American aircraft can give and take heavier punishment than anything Germany, Italy or Japan thus far has produced.

Tomorrow: Other steps to increase the striking power of our aerial weapons; the broad outlines of the war in the air; from slogans to battle performance.

Backgrounds of Adams County

No. 258—The McClellans Of Adams Co. Pa.

B. F. MacPHERSON

Before beginning the notes on the McClellan family we would like to correct a typographical error that appeared in last week's column. Marx (2) Forney was not the only child of Johann Adam (1) and Louisa Forney. He was the only one, however, whose descendants were connected with the McClellan family or burial plot.

The data on the McClellan clan of Adams county that will be published in this and subsequent columns was taken in its entirety from an old and rare chart of the family loaned to the writer by a reader of this column.

Of the first William McClellan comparatively little is known. He was born, married, lived and died near Coleraine, Ireland. It is believed by some that the first William McClellan and his wife were the

"How To Save Coffee" By The "Little Flower"

New York, Nov. 2 (AP)—Busy Mayor La Guardia has barged into the kitchen again—now with his own recipe for brewing coffee.

In his weekly broadcast the mayor, whose latest utterances in matters culinary pertained to meat rationing, advised the little woman to (A) stow away her modern percolator for the duration, (B) dust off the old-fashioned coffee pot, and (C) proceed as follows:

"Just take a spoonful (of coffee) to a cup—that's pretty strong—and brew it."

"Let it come to a boil for a very short time, then let it settle. Strain the coffee in serving it."

"I wouldn't throw the grounds away if anyone in the family is accustomed to having coffee for their midday or evening meal; just adding a sprinkle on the top of the old grounds will make a very good cup of coffee for the evening."

many infantry, the mid-day communique said.

More than 300 Germans were reported killed in the fighting north-east of Tuzpse, Black sea naval port, but the trend there was not indicated.

German activity in the Mordok area of the Caucasus, where Nazi troops were attempting to break through to the Grozny oil fields, was reported at a complete standstill. Pravda said this drive finally was checked Oct. 25. The newspaper estimated German casualties for September in the Mordok area at 19,000 killed or wounded and said the October losses were as great.

parents of a large family, and that at least two of their children are buried in the family plot on Marsh Creek. They are:

William (2) McClellan, born in Ireland, married to Elizabeth Miller, emigrated to America in 1789, died on Marsh Creek and buried in the McClellan plot. The grave is not marked.

Margaret (2) McClellan, born 1709-10, married first to Henry McDonough (1701-1758), then in 1759-60 to William Boyd. It is not known just where Margaret (McClellan) McDonough Boyd is buried but the grave of her first husband is in the McClellan plot.

The second William (2) McClellan was born in Ireland and married there to Elizabeth Miller. Of the children born to this marriage very little is known. The third William McClellan was born in 1755 and was four years old when his parents came to America. It is thought that three of the children of William (2) and Elizabeth (Miller) McClellan are buried in the family plot. They are:

Ellenor (3) McClellan, born in Ireland 1729, married Robert T. Kincaid, died in York (now Adams) county, July 25, 1768, and buried in the McClellan plot. The grave is marked by an upright black slate stone.

William (3) McClellan, born in Ireland 1735, married first to Eleanor McMichael, then to Mary Reynolds. Died on Marsh Creek in 1739. Buried in an unmarked grave in the family plot. It is not known where his wife was buried.

Christina (3) McClellan, born in America March 5, 1740, married to Charles Dell of Baltimore county, Maryland, died May 5, 1800. Both are buried in the family plot on Marsh Creek and their graves are marked by large flat stone covering an entire grave.

William (3) McClellan and his first wife, Eleanor McMichael, were the parents of the following children:

William (4) McClellan, born June 21, 1763; married on January 31, 1788, to Mary Magdalena, daughter of Balser Spangler, died July 27, 1831.

Margaret (4) McClellan, born May, 1763, married Robert McCracken, died July 18, 1823.

James (4) McClellan, born 1767, died September 19, 1838, unmarried. Buried in the McClellan plot in an unmarked grave.

Martha (4) McClellan, married William McClellan (her cousin), died September 1803.

Elizabeth (4) McClellan unmarried. Buried in an unmarked grave in the family plot.

William (3) McClellan and his second wife, Mary Reynolds, were the parents of the following children:

Samuel (4) McClellan, born November 15, 1787, married on December 24, 1812, to Eva Maria Elizabeth Raborg, died March 25, 1858.

John (4) McClellan, died young.

Nancy (4) McClellan, died young.

David (4) McClellan, born 1796, died May 7, 1864, unmarried. Buried in the family plot in an unmarked grave.

The notes on the McClellan family will be continued next week.

Continue Search For Rickenbacker

Washington, Nov. 2 (AP)—In the hope that Captain Eddie Rickenbacker may yet be found alive, Army planes en route to the South Pacific battle zones have joined the search for the World war ace and his crew of seven men.

The War Department disclosed yesterday that fliers bound for the Solomons and other fighting fronts in the Pacific have been directed to fan out over as much area as possible south of Honolulu in searching for Rickenbacker and his crew.

Rickenbacker, a confidential adviser to Sims-on, was en route to the southwest Pacific on a survey trip when last reported.

A fondness for litigation, as well as of war, was characteristic of the Normans.

British Aircraft Production Gains

London, Nov. 2 (AP)—Britain's aircraft production in September increased 20 per cent over August. Home Secretary Herbert Morrison declared here yesterday in a speech in which he paid tribute to the achievements of the British worker.

Production of other war materials, exclusive of ships, showed an increase of 41 per cent in the same period, Morrison added.

He asserted that Britain's per capita output of war goods of all kinds exceeded that of any nation and that the shipbuilding output alone is double that per head of any other country.

The great bulk of American Indian tribes possessed neither time systems nor writing.

REDS FIGHT TO PROTECT VITAL MILITARY ROAD

Moscow, Nov. 2 (AP)—The Red army fought fiercely throughout the night to defend the approaches to its vital military highway across the Caucasus mountains after a retreat in the Nalchik area yesterday, but the mid-day communiqué reported that the Germans had been thrown back in various parts of Stalingrad.

Of the critical situation in the Nalchik area, the communiqué said only that "our troops fought heavy defensive engagements." Four enemy tanks, twelve troop trucks and five guns were reported smashed by Soviet artillery fire.

It was in the Nalchik area that the main German strength seemed to be gathering in the shadow of the towering Caucasus mountain crags. The action in Stalingrad apparently had dwindled to small engagements in scattered sectors.

Scouts Are Active
During the night, the Russians moved aggressively against German positions in the scarred and blackened city and reported that they had captured several buildings from the enemy.

Northwest of the city, Russian scouts broke into the German lines and killed about a company of German infantry, the mid-day communiqué said.

More than 300 Germans were reported killed in the fighting north-east of Tuapse, Black sea naval port, but the trend there was not indicated.

German activity in the Mozdok area of the Caucasus, where Nazi troops were attempting to break through to the Grozny oil fields, was reported at a complete standstill.

Pravda said this drive finally was checked Oct. 25. The newspaper estimated German casualties for September in the Mozdok area at 19,000 killed or wounded and said the October losses were as great.

"How To Save Coffee" By The "Little Flower"

New York, Nov. 2 (AP)—Busy Mayor La Guardia has bargued into the kitchen again—now with his own recipe for brewing coffee.

In his weekly broadcast the mayor, whose latest utterances in matters culinary pertained to meat rationing, advised the little woman to (A) stow away her modern percolator for the duration, (B) dust off the old-fashioned coffee pot, and (C) proceed as follows:

"Just take a spoonful (of coffee) to a cup—that's pretty strong—and brew it."

"Let it come to a boil for a very short time, then let it settle. Strain the coffee in serving it."

"I wouldn't throw the grounds away if anyone in the family is accustomed to having coffee for their midday or evening meal; just adding a sprinkle on the top of the old grounds will make a very good cup of coffee for the evening."

Many infantry, the mid-day communiqué said.

Continue Search For Rickenbacker

Washington, Nov. 2 (AP)—In the hope that Captain Eddie Rickenbacker may yet be found alive, Army planes en route to the South Pacific battle zones have joined the search for the World War ace and his crew of seven men.

The War Department disclosed yesterday that fliers bound for the Solomons and other fighting fronts in the Pacific have been directed to fan out over as much area as possible south of Honolulu in searching for Rickenbacker and his crew.

Rickenbacker, a confidential adviser to Stimson, was en route to the southwest Pacific on a survey trip when last reported.

A fondness for litigation, as well as a war, was characteristic of the Normans.

Just Folks

By Edgar A. Guen
WAR BRIDE

How far lies the war away? A mother that I know Got a letter from New Zealand just a week or two ago Saying: "May I call you mother, though you live so far away?
Your son and I were married here
at Auckland yesterday."

From Michigan the distance down to Auckland's rather great.
It's a lot of miles to travel to complete some trick of fate.
And that mother of that youngster never dreamed the day would be When he'd marry in New Zealand, and I'm certain nor did he.

There's a mother in New Zealand who believed some English man
Would have wooed and won her daughter, not a lad from Michigan.
But the war has shortened distance and has altered many lives
And has given to Yankee soldiers very nice New Zealand wives.

Today's Talk

ADVENTURE AND EXPERIENCE

It is inspiring to meet a person spoken of as "alive." You know at once that such a one must be interesting and worth meeting and trying to be a friend, for the only way to keep alive is to adventure and experiment all through life.

Both adventuring and experimenting keep the mind active and alert. They make the closed mind impossible. It's always open and ready to receive any new idea, or to listen to any new experiment.

Try anything once—if it's honest and promises something worthwhile
—but it often pays to try many things over and over again, if for no other reason than that it stimu-lates the mind and may suggest adventure or experiment undreamed of before. Many of the great discoveries of the world have been stumbled upon! Watching an apple fall to the ground, a tea kettle steaming on the stove, and a kite in the air, did wonders to the thinking minds that noted them, for out of those observations came great discoveries!

Mere observation may be a silent adventure or suggest the path to an experiment fraught with endless possibilities.
Henry M. Stanley, who went into the wilds of Africa to search for an obscure missionary, came out of that adventure with a great story of that undeveloped continent which has since inspired an unending number to further discover and develop its untold resources. It is no longer
"Darkest Africa."

It is the thrill of adventure that leads so many men and women to attempt "impossible" tasks. And it is the continual train of surprises that keep the experimenter forever at his work.

It is the adventure and the hunt that lie behind almost all collectors in their chosen hobby. They are repaid for their efforts in the thrill of discovery.
The curiosity of a child should always be encouraged, and satisfied wherever possible. Curiosity leads to adventure and to experimentation, which adds to wisdom and rounds out life. Any one of us can learn something to our profit from the adventurous.

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "Hotel Lobbies."

Out Of The Past

From the Files of the Star and Sentinel and The Gettysburg Times

ONE HUNDRED YEARS AGO
The "Complier" of Oct. 17, the official organ of "Hoz. Van Orsdel, Postmaster of Gettysburg," contains a communication from that gentleman, which is rather censorious upon the editor of the "Sentinel."
for some remarks made in regard to the course of President Tyler.
Our absence from home has prevented any previous notice of this interesting article. On a review of it since our return, we can find nothing worthy of remark. We'll "leave him alone in his glory."

Married: On Tuesday, by the Rev.
H. L. Baugher, Mr. — Sweeney, to Miss Mary Reed, both of Gettysburg.
On Thursday last, by the same,
Mr. Henry Baker, to Miss Polly
Slaybaugh, both of this county.
On the 11th ult., by the Rev. J. C.
Baker, Mr. John Martin, of this county, to Miss Mary Musser, of Lancaster county.

The Rev. W. A. Passavant, late of Gettysburg Seminary, has accepted a call from two congregations in Baltimore.

Died: On Thursday last, Mr.
Henry Toot, sen., of Cumberland township.

On the 23d ult., very suddenly at Columbia, Pa., Mrs. Lydia Moore, wife of Dr. George Moore, of that place, and sister of Col. M. C. Clarkson, of Gettysburg.

Dr. James Parry, Surgeon Dentist, will visit Gettysburg professionally on the 7th of November next. As his stay will necessarily be limited, persons who may desire his services are requested to make it known to him as soon as convenient after his arrival.
He may be consulted at Mr.
Ferry's hotel.

new Town Clock.

New Firm: Messrs. James Hersh

grain and produce business in New Oxford, both clever and energetic young men.

The Gettysburg Springs: The Lithia Springs on the property of Mr. Harman, near this place, are beginning to attract a good deal of attention in various parts of the county, and the demand for the water is rapidly increasing, orders for it coming in almost daily from New York, Philadelphia and western cities. The New York Herald editorially says:

"The remarkable cures that this water has made of chronic diseases are, we believe, beyond doubt, and the character of the water, the historic associations of the place and its beautiful scenery, seem to promise that Gettysburg will soon become famous as a great American watering place."

Inauguration of the Jubilee Services: The Lutheran congregations of this place observed Thursday as a day of special thanksgiving for the blessings of the Reformation, it being the Three Hundred and Fiftieth Anniversary of the day usually reckoned as the inauguration of that great event, viz: October 31, 1517. The morning services in which both congregations participated were held in St. James church. The edifice was appropriately decorated with evergreens, etc.
An appropriate discourse was delivered by Rev. Dr. Brown, of the Theological Seminary. Rev. Dr.
Hay, of the Seminary, assisted in the pulpit services. A joint meeting of the Sunday schools was held at the same place, in the afternoon, which was addressed in an interesting manner by Rev. Prof. Conrad, of Pennsylvania college, and Rev. Dr. Hay. In the evening, at the College church, there were addresses by Rev. Profs. Ferrier and Wilken, of the college, the latter speaking in German. Rev. Mr.
Bredendahl, the pastor of St.
James, and Rev. Dr. Baugher. These addresses were preceded by singing by the choir and congregation, prayer and reading of and comments upon portion of the 119th Psalm, by the pastor, Rev. Dr. Hay.
The exercises were attended and participated in by large and attentive audiences. The College church was very handsomely trimmed with evergreen and the walls adorned with suitable mottoes in gilt.

Women Will Elect Governor Of Pennsylvania Tuesday

LEADERS LOOK TO "FAIR SEX" FOR VICTORY

(By The Associated Press)
Philadelphia, Nov. 2—Twenty-two years after winning the right to vote, Pennsylvania women tomorrow will wield the balance of power as leadership of the Keystone state during the crucial war years ahead is decided at the polls.

Rival governorship aspirants agreed on importance of the feminine vote as they wound up weeks of oratory pegged on winning the war and the peace.
Adjutant General Edward Martin,
the Republican nominee, predicted that the fairer sex will decide the election, declaring "in all the years of my experience I have never seen so much interest among women voters."

Urge All to Vote
His Democratic opponent, Auditor
General F. Clair Ross, said women had taken "a more important part than in any previous campaign," while Party Chairman David L.
Lawrence observed "they'll have a whole lot to say about who is the next Governor."

Both candidates urged all citizens to cast their ballot as the state, in addition to Governor, elects a Lieutenant Governor, Secretary of Internal Affairs, one justice of the Supreme court, one judge of the superior court, 33 Congressmen, the entire 208 membership of the state House of Representatives and 25 or half the state Senators.

Predicting "an overwhelming vote of confidence in our party," Martin declared "I am not appealing now for votes for myself but I am most earnestly asking every registered voter of the commonwealth to go to the polls and express his or her wishes according to the best judgment and conscience."

Ross said "The Republican leaders in Pennsylvania are hoping that a light vote—the failure of the people to vote—will bring them victory."
He added "they hope and believe that the developments in the war, activity in war industry, absence of our young men in the armed forces and the movement of industrial voters to new jobs will make this a minority election."

The Democratic nominee declared he would be supported at the polls by "thousands" of (United States Senator James J.) Davis and Willkie Republicans and "all four great labor organizations—the AFL, CIO, Railroad Brotherhoods and United Mine Workers."

The public throughout the campaign seems to have been more interested in the war than politics.
Democratic and Republican headquarters, however, noted a pick-up in interest during the last few weeks and forecast a bigger vote than the 32 per cent cast in the May primary. There are 4,642,363 voters registered, including 2,616,455 Republicans, 1,965,627 Democrats and 60,281 representing minor parties.

VALID EXCUSE
Bethlehem, Pa. (AP)—Ed White, Lehigh university sophomore, won't take anything for granted in the future.

His best girl answered his invitation to the annual houseparty this way: "I'll be there if I have to walk."
On the eve of the party she sent Ed this telegram:
"Sorry can't come. Fell and broke my leg. Can't walk."

ONE SHOT DYER
Sedalia, Mo. (AP)—If that poor fish hadn't gone and stuck his nose in—Dr. D. P. Dyer aimed low and blasted away at some ducks. Four flopped over. Retrieving them, he found a black bass—speckled with shot.

WHAT A RELIEF
Sandpoint, Idaho (AP)—A feminine motorist braked her car to a quick stop in front of the county jail.

"What's the matter?" she asked in a shaky voice.
"We just had an earthquake," replied a deputy sheriff.

"Oh thank goodness! I thought I had a flat tire."

WOMAN, STATE TROOPER, SHOT

Allentown, Pa., Nov. 2 (AP)—A 24-year-old mother, found shot beside the body of a state police officer in Slatington fire hall yesterday, remained in a critical condition in Allentown hospital today.

State Police Lieutenant F. C.
Miner of the Bethlehem barracks identified the man as Charles Kern, 44, and the woman as Mrs. Ethel Roberts. Both were shot in the head. They had been neighbors.

The woman regained consciousness briefly last night and, police said, accused Kern of having shot her.
Miner said Kern's service pistol from which two shots had been fired, was found beside his body on the floor. The woman reclined in a chair beside a half-open window.

The woman's husband, Robert Roberts, was taken into custody by state motor police and questioned all day yesterday. Police said they were holding him on an "open charge" but did not say what connection he had with the case.

Australian Army
Must Act Quicker

Melbourne, Nov. 2 (AP)—Francis
M. Forde, Australian Army minister, announced today that new and drastic penalties have been established for undue delay within the Army in carrying out orders.

Needless delay has been caused,
he said, by failure of some officers to insist on prompt action and failure of some officers to accept responsibility for making decisions.
ters, was killed three hours after he completed a tour of duty. He was wearing his uniform.
Passersby heard two shot fired from the second floor of Slatington fire hall and a woman's faint cries for help.

Plant Policeman
Found Dead In Car

Pittsburgh, Nov. 2 (AP)—Edward J. Kulpa, 38, of Etna, a Blaw Knox company plant policeman, was found fatally shot today near his automobile on Squaw Run road in Fox Chapel.

County detectives reported a shotgun and hunting clothes were found on the blood-stained front seat of the automobile. Mrs. Kulpa told detectives her husband left home for work last night. She said he had planned to go hunting after work and had taken his hunting clothes with him.

Alaska-Mexico
Highway Linked

Mexico City, Nov. 2 (AP)—The last link in a complete overland route between Alaska and Central America, of value principally for urgent war purposes, has been forged with the opening of a new half-mile bridge over the Suchiate river between Mexico and Guatemala.

Completion of the span joined the railway systems of Guatemala and Mexico, which now have continuous highway connections with Alaska by virtue of the recent completion of the new road linking that far northern territory with the United States.

SOLONS FACE
2 BIG ISSUES

Washington, Nov. 2 (AP)—Whether teen age soldiers shall be sent into combat without a year of training and whether women enlisted in the Navy and Coast Guard Reserves shall be permitted to serve overseas are among issues facing Congress when it resumes regular business next week.

Both Senate and House have decreed that 18 and 19-year-old youths may be inducted into the armed forces, but have disagreed over the question of giving them a stipulated period of training before putting them under fire.

House Avoids Issue
The House skirted the training by not even voting on it directly, only to have the controversial subject tossed right back in its lap by the Senate which, on a close vote, decided no teen-age inductee should be assigned to combat duty until he had at least 12 months of training.

Roane Waring, national commander of the American Legion, declared his organization was "unalterably opposed" to the pre-combat training proposal.

"It might have a very disastrous effect," he said.

Chairman Reynolds (D-N.C.) of the Senate Military committee voiced personal opposition to the training proposal, declaring it would "hamstring" the Army.

Tired Kidneys
Often Bring Sleepless Nights

Doctors say your kidneys contain 15 miles of tiny tubes or filters which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy. When they get tired and don't work right in the daytime, many people have to get up at night. Frequent or scanty passages with a burning and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder. Don't neglect this condition and lose valuable, restful sleep.
When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may also cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches,
and dizziness.
Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Guns—Planes—Tanks QUICK!

"Listen, Bud—glad to see you getting along. Sure, I know you've had to tighten your belt—for a long time you took it on the chin, and now you're getting good pay.

"That's O.K. with us soldiers. You've got your part to play, just as we have ours. You've got to make the stuff—and we've got to deliver it.

"But just a second . . . maybe it's none of our business, but, say, are you throwing your money around?

"Here's something straight from the shoulder. You see, we soldiers want to feel that we're not fighting alone—that you're behind us—every one of you, man, woman and youngster.

"How? Listen . . .

"How many WAR BONDS are you buying? Are you in on the Payroll Savings Plan? If you're not, you'll get in—won't you? This is your war—isn't it? We're fighting for you, aren't we?

"So look . . .

"When they come around to you, at your job, and ask you to put aside TEN PERCENT of your earnings every payday—a dime from every dollar—you'll do it, won't you—for us?

"You'll get a WAR BOND every time you've saved $18.75—and that Bond will build up, year by year, to $25 in ten years.

"So you're helping us and protecting yourself at the same time by your savings. Can't beat that, can you?

"We've got to have guns and planes, and tanks, and ships and bullets—and you've got to pay for them—from your own, voluntary WAR BOND savings.

"Invest a dime from every dollar in us—and keep it up, week after week, month after month. Then count on us to blast hell out of the Japs, the Huns, and their whole bloodthirsty gang.

5 Reasons Why

- 1 By investing in War Bonds you help provide the planes, the tanks, the guns and the ships we must have to survive and conquer.
- 2 You prove that you are a patriotic American.
- 3 You aid the morale of our fighting men, by showing them that the entire Nation is behind them.
- 4 You prove to our enemies that we are a United People.
- 5 You protect your own financial future, as every $18.75 you invest in a War Bond brings you back $25 in 10 years. You make the world's safest investment, by buying a share in the world's most powerful country.

Here And There

News Collected At Random

next morning Bob went to inspect his work and found a new menace . . . a man and woman, easily discerned by the footprints, had deliberately walked the entire length of the cement sidewalk, scraping their feet in many places, and digging into the cement. It required several hours to repair that damage.

"I've had kids do some damage to my concrete but never before have I experienced such deliberate damage by grown-ups," said Bob.

Now comes another service man to endorse our movement to prevail upon the Navy department to name one of its new aircraft carriers "Gettysburg."

Pride in his home town because he's a Gettysburgian, may have prompted the following letter:

"My heartiest congratulations to you and all others for the splendid movement inaugurated to have an aircraft carrier named Gettysburg."

"Visualizing some of these splendid young men we are now training . . . serving aboard a carrier named after my own home town gave me a renewed feeling of pride as well as an increased consciousness of effort in my own humble duties that is just indescribable."

"There is no need for me to express my good wishes for a successful ending . . . to have my home town . . . and the carrier . . . so honored, but I do want you to know of my eagerness to learn the results."

Thanks a lot old fellow. We know you mean every word of your letter and we also know that you are doing a bang-up job for Uncle Sam. And if we should be so fortunate as to have a carrier named Gettysburg we hope that you will be selected as a member of the FIRST crew. Good luck.

Incidentally, Congressman Harry L. Haines informed us this morning that his appeal to the Navy department to have a carrier named Gettysburg had been warmly received and that he was assured our request will be given every consideration.

The Chamber of Commerce committee to decide upon the extent of Christmas street lights this year will soon make known its decision.

We certainly hope that the Committee will decide to carry on as in past years. Christmas is an important day in every Christian's life. It is especially important to children. The spirit of Christmas cannot be emphasized too much, especially this year. We are at war, but civilian activity must be carried on as much as possible and this is one Chamber of Commerce feature that should not be abandoned. It means a lot to everyone to remember the natal day of the King of Kings.

Worley Speaks

Francis Worley, nominee for the General Assembly, declared that a candidate's qualifications and his intention of serving the public should be the sole basis for deciding his right to an office. "Any other campaign talk is aimed at appealing to voters' prejudices," he said. Promising that "If I'm elected, Adams county will know it has a representative at Harrisburg," Worley promised he will represent all the interests in the county.

The meeting opened with the singing of "America." The invocation was given by the Rev. Paul D. Leedy, Gettysburg Methodist pastor. Chairman Baschore introduced Miss Martha Mayberry, Dillsburg; Mrs. Esther Hayberger, Adams county vice chairman; State Senator Paul M. Crider, Chambersburg; and Leighton C. Taylor, Three

MURDER on the Campus

By JERRY BRONDFIELD

Chapter 11

AT THE STATION

Phil Humphries, dead! Murdered! Susan sank into a chair slowly, a dazed look of disbelief on her face as she read the front page story. The body had been found lying on the floor of the laboratory. Preliminary reports revealed Phil had been dead anywhere from three to five hours, when the body was discovered by a watchman making his rounds of the building.

There had been signs of a struggle, the story said. A chair had been knocked over and a large glass container smashed. Humphries' head had been crushed by a heavy, blunted instrument. Robbery was discounted because nothing of value had been touched.

Susan read the story through—Phil's background, his brilliant promise in chemistry, his reputation for frivolity.

There were no thoughts of classes that day for her. She stared at Alice Duncan and Alice stared back, both hardly knowing what to say. Then Susan got up and went to the telephone. She had an odd desire to talk to Todd but when a pledge answered she asked for Eddie Tuttle. Instead, on an impulse, if Todd didn't already know, she didn't want to be the one to tell him.

"Eddie," she began, when he got on the line, "this is Susan. Have you—"

He interrupted with a curse that she entirely overlooked. "Yeah, I've heard," Eddie replied, and she noted hoarseness in his voice. "Everyone has, and those blankety-blank police have Todd down at the station. Why, though—what do they think he is—a murderer?" Eddie fairly shouted.

Susan felt chilled. "Todd," she echoed. "What do they want with him?"

Eddie raged. "Formality! The detectives said. They just wanted to question him. Remember that night at Tony's when Humphries first sprang the news about Todd's father? Remember how Todd made—"

—of remark about how Todd made—"

—kill snakes where he came from? Well, that remark got around. In case you don't know it, and it finally reached the shell-pink ears of the law. So they're questioning him."

"That's—that's ridiculous," Susan said weakly, for want of something else to say. "What do we—what are you going to do?"

"Nothing. Wait'll he gets back to the house. They'll probably release him right away. It's just that I don't like the idea. It stinks. It's rotten!"

Just a Formality

Detective Sergeant Paul Lake knocked his pipe against the desk and looked Todd full in the face.

"Just relax, Todd. We're just here for a talk. Routine, that's all. A man was murdered—we think—last night, and the chief wants us to explore every angle. Unfortunately you happened to have had, well—a little difficulty with the victim and you made a certain remark."

He looked at Todd's tightly drawn mouth. "We're not accusing you of anything, Malone," he said kindly.

"but because the circumstances are what they are we'll have to ask you what you did last night. From the time you left practice until you went to bed."

There was a slight sardonic smile on Todd's face now. He looked at Lake and then at another detective who was seated beside him. The ten seconds of silence before he spoke seemed like a long time.

When he spoke his voice was low but distinct. "I had little use for Philip Humphries but I didn't want him to get his skull bashed in. Also, I wasn't the one who did it. Let's get that across right quick. Sure, I said that we kill snakes where I come from, but I was pretty mad the night I said that. The most I ever wished to do was hand Phil Humphries a face full of knuckles."

The detective nodded. "Sure, Todd, I know what you mean—but about last night," he said again, firmly.

"Oh, sure. I got back to the fraternity house at 6:30 and had dinner. I sat around for a while after dinner, then I had to go back to Johnny Miller's quarters—he's our trainer, you know—for a heat treatment on a bruised leg. That was from eight to nine. Then I walked across the campus to Main street, where I met a friend of mine. That was about 9:30. I walked her home and then went home myself."

"What time did you get there?"

"Oh, about 9:45."

"You went straight home?"

Todd's eyes flashed. "I just said I left my friend and went home!"

"Who was the friend?" Lake insisted.

"A girl. Susan Drake. She's a Delta Sig."

They made some notes. "You remained in the house the rest of the evening?"

"Of course. It was raining pretty hard by the time I got home."

Printed

Lake got out a white sheet of paper and an inked pad. "Todd, mind if we get some finger prints?"

"I suppose this is formality, too," Todd snapped.

Lake shrugged apologetically. "Mind?"

Todd pressed his inked fingers onto the paper. He recoiled slightly when he saw the dark blue imprints with the myriad swirls.

"What's the matter?" Lake inquired.

"Nothing," Todd said, still looking at the prints. "I—just thought of something, that's all."

"Something we ought to know?" Lake asked mildly.

"Nothing you should know," Todd said evenly. "but I'll tell you. This made me think of my father."

"Oh—" Lake said. He closed his notebook. "Todd, we're hoping you'll cooperate with us. We're asking that of everyone who knew Humphries."

Todd left the police station and boarded a street car for the campus. There was a brooding bitterness in his heart as he sat moodily, reflecting on the turn of events. Formality! Yes, of course. But he was no dummy. He knew that formality could be just a step removed from suspicion. And after all—

He was too engrossed in his own thoughts to notice the two high school boys seated across from him, eyeing him with that unashamed worship which kids have for potential All-America quarterbacks.

Todd, raising his gaze, saw them finally. His hardened face relaxed slowly.

He winked broadly at them. At any other time their wide grins might have been a tonic for any frame of mind, no matter how depressing.

But not now.

Chapter 12

SUSAN MAKES A TRIP

Todd's picture made Page One along with Phil Humphries' that afternoon when the papers started to elaborate on the story.

POLICE QUIZ

GRID STAR

No clues had been uncovered as yet, nor had any apparent motive been established. Dr. Stephen Coulter, reached by reporters at home where he was confined with a cold, was shocked almost beyond expression. He announced that the loss was a personal one to him, as well as to the university and science in general.

Susan's father telephoned late that afternoon inquiring for details. Patiently she told him she knew nothing more than what he had been reading in the papers. She promised she would call him if anything developed. She hung up, recalling that her father once had expressed a liking for Phil.

It was shortly after dinner when Sergeant Lake of the homicide bureau came to the Delta Sigma house. Mrs. Holmes, the house mother, ushered him into her office and called Susan.

He questioned her about the night before. Did she meet Todd Malone on Main Street? Did he walk home with her? What time did he leave her? In what direction had he gone when he left her?

Personal Questions

She answered his questions perfunctorily, almost mechanically, but with a slight resentment. It seemed the questions were so sharply pointed with suspicion.

"You're wasting your time," she blurted. "Todd didn't have a thing to do with it. Why do you have to do this to him? He's already suffered one great personal blow, and now this comes up."

"At a time like this we have to sidetrack personal feelings, Miss Drake," Lake said.

"Even at the risk of ruining a man's whole career—his very life?" she flashed.

"Even at that risk," he nodded. "You seem very concerned. You in love with him?" Lake suggested coolly.

"In love with—?" She started to echo the question; it had hit her so abruptly she was unable to give him an instant answer. The idea itself was strange but it struck a funny chord within her.

"I'm not evading your question," she said finally, "but does that have anything to do with the case?"

"We never know." Then he cocked his head sideways at her. "Your father is a detective lieutenant upstate, isn't he?"

"Yes."

"Does he know you've been seeing Malone?"

She felt the hot flush that came over her face. "I think you're getting a little too personal, needless—" ly," she said.

"I'll be the judge," he told her curtly. "But skip it." He looked at his watch. "Keep us in mind if you hear anything. Never can tell what a detective's daughter might turn up," he grinned.

Disappeared!

Todd has skipped all his classes that day. He hadn't even returned to the fraternity house for lunch. He stopped at a drug store on the outer fringe of the campus and got a malted milk. Then he started walking.

By the time he heard the three o'clock chimes he had circled back to Main Street. For the first time, then, he remembered football practice.

On his way to the stadium he noticed several people snatch quick, almost embarrassed glances as he passed.

He didn't bother to identify familiar faces. He didn't want to say anything to anyone, not even hello. He passed the cluster of oak trees in the center of the campus and a squirrel at the base of one of them scurried up the branches as he approached.

In the distance, about a quarter of a mile away, Todd saw the stadium towers in the late afternoon sun. He stopped, looked at the quiver and decided he wasn't going to practice. Not that day, not tomorrow. And he didn't give a hang what had happened when Vanderbilt came to town, Saturday, for that matter.

He was sick of the whole thing. Right up to his neck. And if he never saw a football again it would make little difference. He didn't owe anybody anything, he reflected bitterly; he'd certainly given more than he'd received around here.

Susan heard the report on the radio that night. Todd Malone had not shown up for practice. He had returned to his fraternity house that afternoon about three and had left shortly afterwards.

The next day, Thursday, Todd was still missing. The sports writers fanned it up big. No one had seen him in two days. A mystery like that, two days before a big inter-sectional game made dripping copy.

Detective headquarters called Susan and asked if she had any ideas of his whereabouts. She gave them a flat no. But in her economics class the next afternoon an idea came to her. It grew on her as she rushed home. Hurriedly she changed clothes and ran to Peggy Cannon's room.

"Give me your car keys, Peg," she said swiftly. "No questions, Peg—this is an emergency."

"Sure," Peggy pointed to her dresser.

Susan grabbed the keys and dashed downstairs and around to the rear of the house where Peg kept her car.

An hour later Susan parked near the state penitentiary in Centerville. She walked into the administration offices and introduced herself. "I'm Susan Drake. Possibly you know my father, Lieutenant Drake. I'd like very much to see one of the prisoners—Duke Malone—for just a couple of

Guns-Planes-Tanks QUICK!

"Listen, Bud—glad to see you getting along. Sure, I know you've had to tighten your belt—for a long time you took it on the chin, and now you're getting good pay.

"That's O.K. with us soldiers. You've got your part to play, just as we have ours. You've got to make the stuff—and we've got to deliver it.

"But just a second . . . maybe it's none of our business, but, say, are you throwing your money around?

"Here's something straight from the shoulder. You see, we soldiers want to feel that we're not fighting alone—that you're behind us—every one of you, man, woman and youngster.

"How? Listen . . .

"How many WAR BONDS are you buying? Are you in on the Payroll Savings Plan? If you're not, you'll get in—won't you? This is your war—isn't it? We're fighting for you, aren't we?

"So look . . .

"When they come around to you, at your job, and ask you to put aside TEN PERCENT of your earnings every payday—a dime from every dollar—you'll do it, won't you—for us?

"You'll get a WAR BOND every time you've saved $18.75—and that Bond will build up, year by year, to $25 in ten years.

"So you're helping us and protecting yourself at the same time by your savings. Can't beat that, can you?

"We've got to have guns and planes, and tanks, and ships and bullets—and you've got to pay for them—from your own, voluntary WAR BOND savings.

"Invest a dime from every dollar in us—and keep it up, week after week, month after month. Then count on us to blast hell out of the Japs, the Huns, and their whole bloodthirsty gang.

5 Reasons Why

- 1 By investing in War Bonds you help provide the planes, the tanks, the guns and the ships we must have to survive and conquer.
- 2 You prove that you are a patriotic American.
- 3 You aid the morale of our fighting men, by showing them that the entire Nation is behind them.
- 4 You prove to our enemies that we are a United People.
- 5 You protect your own financial future, as every $18.75 you invest in a War Bond brings you back $35 in 10 years. You make the world's safest investment, by buying a share in the world's most powerful country.

BADGERS KNOCK BUCKEYES FROM UNBEATEN LIST

By AUSTIN BEALMEAR

New York, Nov. 2 (AP)—With virtually all the conference pictures more clearly defined after last week's slam-bang program, the nation's football teams moved into the final months of the campaign today, many with stiff assignments ahead.

Although the coming week-end can't hope to produce anything as exciting as the past one, when such teams as Ohio State, Alabama, Army, Syracuse, Texas Christian and Detroit were bounced out of the undefeated ranks, there still will be enough action to go around.

In the Western conference, Wisconsin stands alone at the front of the title chase after dumping Ohio State, 17-7. Next Saturday the Badgers meet Iowa.

Ohio State vs. Pitt
Ohio State, dropped to second place, has a non-conference date with Pitt this week and Purdue also steps out of the loop to play the Great Lakes Sailors, who blanked Missouri, 17-0.

After handing Illinois its first conference setback, 28-14, Michigan takes on Harvard in an inter-sectional duel. Illinois tangles with Northwestern and Minnesota, 19-7 conqueror of Northwestern, meets Indiana in conference play.

Army's 19-0 loss to Pennsylvania took a little of the edge off this week's tussle between the Cadets and Notre Dame at New York's Yankee stadium, but the Irish prepared for the classic by sinking Navy, 9-0. Penn and Navy get together at Philadelphia at the same time.

Boston college, which remained unbeaten and untied by swamping Georgetown, 47-0, catches Temple, while other eastern headlines send Yale against Cornell, Princeton against Dartmouth and Penn State against Syracuse. Fordham has an inter-sectional date with Louisiana State.

Georgia Tops South
Georgia, which looms as the best in the south, after stopping previously unbeaten Alabama, 21-10, meets another but weaker Southeastern conference opponent, Florida.

Alabama tangles with South Carolina and Maryland, 13-0 winner over Florida, meets Duke in a southern loop headliner. Georgia Tech, still unbeaten and untied after stopping Duke, 26-7, takes on Kentucky with visions of another Southeastern conference triumph.

Tulane finally won two games in a row by tripping Vanderbilt, 28-21, and will try to make it three against Mississippi State, a Southeastern foe. Mississippi plays Vanderbilt and Auburn tackles the Georgia Pre-Flight club.

Baylor Vs. Texas
With Texas Christian out of the way, Baylor and Texas collide head-on with the Southwest conference lead and perhaps the title at stake. Baylor knocked T.C.U. out of the unbeaten ranks, 10-7, while Texas handled Southern Methodist, 21-7.

In the Pacific Coast conference, first-place U.C.L.A. meets Oregon in quest of league victory number four. U.C.L.A. trounced Stanford, 20-7, Saturday while Oregon lost to California, 20-0. California plays Southern California, which rested Saturday.

Phone System To Sub For Clocks

Kansas City, Nov. 2 (AP)—A new business—waking folks from their slumbers—has grown out of the war-induced alarm clock shortage.

Mrs. Beulah Clauger advertises that for 50 cents a week, she will clang an awakening telephone in a worker's house, up to a maximum of 10 calls weekly.

She's had two business telephones

Sigma Chi Frat Bids For Pigskin

The Sigma Chi fraternity at Gettysburg college outbid all other bidders for the football used in the Gettysburg-Drexel football game on Memorial field Saturday and has added the pigskin to its array of trophies.

The Sigma Chi boosted the bidding for the pigskin up to $1,500 when all other bidders dropped out. The bid represents a pledge to purchase $1,500 in U. S. War bonds. The bonds must be purchased before the ball will be presented to the fraternity.

FIGHT IN CAR FATAL TO TWO

Willoughby, O., Nov. 2 (AP)—A collision involving three automobiles killed Mrs. Frances Schwerthofer, 52, Conneautville, Pa., and Joseph Kaiser of Willoughby, and seriously injured Mrs. Schwerthofer's daughter, Mrs. Frances Siladi, 21, and Fred Leyde, a Painesville, Ohio, business man.

Deputy Sheriff Frank Merrill of Lake county gave this version of the accident:

Leyde backed his automobile out of a downtown Willoughby parking lot Saturday night and it collided with the car in which Kaiser and his wife were sitting. Kaiser leaped on the running board of Leyde's car and apparently forced his way into the car while it was moving.

As Kaiser struggled to make Leyde stop, Leyde's car sideswiped a car driven by Don F. Potter of Painesville, then swung across the road into a car driven by Arthur Reichel, Sagerstown (Crawford county), Pa. Mrs. Schwerthofer and her daughter were passengers in the Reichel car.

Installed at her home. Whether the business will pay out is something else—she just started a few days ago.

The record for removing an airplane engine, and substituting a new one, is 54½ minutes.

H.S. LEAGUES HAVE NEW GRID PAGE SETTERS

By JERRY WEINSTEIN

Harrisburg, Nov. 2 (AP)—Pennsylvania scholastic football, pounding down the home stretch of a strenuous campaign, plunged through another 'unlucky' week-end with these results:

Big Fifteen—Bethlehem jumped into first place and remained the only undefeated contender with a four-period spurge which upset Hazleton, 14-12.

Eastern Conference—Scranton Central slid by Kingston in the northern division and Shenandoah and Lansford kept up their brilliant play to pace the Southern section.

Tyrone Keeps Moving
Western Conference—Tyrone's defending champions assumed command once again with their eighth straight triumph.

WPIAL—Aliquippa, Altoona, Clairton, Conneautville, New Castle, Wilkesburg and Johnstown survived as contenders for Class AA honors.

Philadelphia—Germantown High in the public schools league and Lower Merion, Upper Merion, Lansdowne, Swarthmore and Coatesville in suburbs swept along toward division championships.

In other sections of the state, Plymouth and Wilkes-Barre Myers took the spotlight as each registered upset victories. Plymouth ruined Berwick's fine record, 21-13, while Myers toppled Kingston, 14-0.

Steelton shared some of Bethlehem's laurels in the Big Fifteen by knocking out Shamokin, the previous leader. Pete Mariner, Steelton guard, kicked a 15-yard field goal in the fourth period to decide the 10-7 contest. Bethlehem's verdict was its fifth straight in conference play.

Scranton Central Leads
Scranton Central topped Olyphant for its fourth straight to gain a rating of 54½; just 46 points above Kingston. Shenandoah romped to its eighth consecutive success, halt-

Saturday's Grid Stars

(By The Associated Press)

Pat Harder and Elroy Hirsch, Wisconsin backs—They led 17-7 victory over Ohio State, Harder scoring a touchdown and kicking a field goal and an extra point, and Hirsch assisting with ball carrying and tossing a touchdown pass.

THE TRUTH SHOULD BE KNOWN

On November 3, 1942, the voters of Adams County will elect a Representative in the Legislature at Harrisburg who will serve the County for the following two years.

To make an intelligent selection it should be known that the present incumbent, volunteered his services to his Country in World War I, is now married and is the father of children of High School attendance.

GEORGE L. BAUGHER

FRANCIS WORLEY

is married and has no children. His wife until the fall of 1941 was a school teacher but then failed to apply for re-election to that position.

We have no objection to party, creed, race or color, but we do think that men should be judged by their actions and that a Veteran should be rewarded for his service to Country and Community. Mr. Worley is of military age but he exhibits a III-A Draft Card, which is a deferred classification, and we feel that a candidate so classified, does not deserve your support.
